Government Asks For Overthrow Of MW Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government, moving into the violence-marked affairs of the United Mine Workers, is seeking to throw out the election of union President W. A. "Tony" Boyle over his later murdered opponent, Joseph A. Yablonski. "We'll fight it to the fullest," said the 65-year-old Boyle, who was having a tooth pulled when Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz announced the federal court suit on grounds of widespread voting violations. Yablonski, his wife and daughter were found shot to death in their blood-spattered Clarksville, Pa., home some three weeks after Boyle announced his Dec. 9 election victory by a margin of 2-1. Five persons, including a local union official, have been charged in the triple slayings. Boyle is the second heir to the late Mine Workers President John L. Lewis who died last year after a 40-year reign over the union that sparked the nation's industrial union movement in coal, steel, auto and other major industry organizing battles in the turbulent 1930s and 1940s.

Lewis' battles until he retired in 1960 included many major run-ins with government and industry titans and other labor leaders. In more recent years, gunshots have sometimes punctuated disputes in the remote coal country of Appalachia. During the campaign, Yablonski was felled by a karate chop to the neck, which he charged was done by a Boyle supporter.

Boyle, hand-picked by Lewis, has been president since the death in 1963 of Thomas Kennedy, Lewis' first choice of an heir.

Lewis, until his death at 89, ran the union's multimillion dollar welfare and retirement fund, which has been criticized for keeping it's money in a union-owned bank without interest.

Yablonski, 59, was a long-time member of the union's hierarchy who admitted he had gone along for years with what he considered abuses until he challenged Boyle for the presidency.

Shultz said the Justice Department suit, after 230 federal agents conducted one of the most exhaustive labor law investigations on record, charged the union permitted campaigning at the polls, denied Yablonski poll watchers in some areas, refused some members the right to vote, didn't even conduct elections in some areas and spent union money on Boyle's campaign.

The government also charged the union failed to properly report many expenditures, including more than $5 million in loans to its districts, and sought to bar further such spending.

Mrs. Nixon Gets Trip To Campus

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Pat Nixon finally made it to a college campus on her five-day trip to salute students who volunteer for good works in their communities.

It was the unique School of the Ozarks in southern Missouri, where the 852 students work their way through school on campus jobs and the president, Dr. M. Graham Clark, says no organized protest group exists.

Mrs. Nixon went to the coed school Thursday at the wind-up of her five-state tour after she had skirted campuses everywhere else.

She heads back to the White House today, explaining that she will not join President Nixon in Florida because "I have things to do in Washington."

Banks To Fight Interest Rebate Rise On Autos

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio banking industry is preparing for a Senate fight over a bill that passed the House Thursday lifting the rebate limit auto dealers can get from financial institutions.

The House voted 71-13 to approve the bill that would remove the present 2 per cent limit on a rebate that sellers of retail installment contracts can get from banks or finance companies.

Opponents of the bill charged that auto dealers could collectively band together if the limit was removed and force financial institutions to provide larger kickbacks with consumers paying the extra cost.

If the bill finally becomes law it would mainly effect the buyer who arranges his auto loan with the car dealer. The dealers presently get a maximum of 2 per cent rebate from the lending institution which buys the note.

Sponsors said the bill would enable dealers who sell the car notes to operate in a free competitive market.

Finance company lobbyists say a major attempt will be made to kill the measure when it reaches the Senate.

The House also passed 79-1 a bill to allow school bus drivers and other non-certified employees to use force and restraint against students to maintain order.

The Senate unanimously passed two minor bills Thursday. One would increase by $1 the amount newspapers can charge for legal advertising.

The Senate also passed a bill that would allow the proceeds of the sale of common stock in trusts to be re-invested even if the total value exceeds the present legal limit of 60 per cent of the trust fund.

Rep. Kenneth Creasy, R-18 Delaware, introduced a bill to require all 88 counties to participate in the federal food stamp program. About 70 counties presently offer the programs. Eighty-five counties offer either food stamps or surplus food programs for the needy.

Creasy also introduced a bill to require county welfare departments to offer job placement services and job counseling services. Creasy said the bill is designed to encourage welfare recipients to find work if they are qualified.

Chest, Arm Pains Still Bother LBJ

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Fatigued, suffering from chest and arm pains and pestered by a cold, former President Lyndon B. Johnson remained under close observation today at Brooke Army Medical Center.

Doctors reported his general condition late Thursday was stable and said there had been "no medical developments which have given cause for additional concern."

Earlier Thursday, Army physicians reported Johnson had spent a "bad night."

Pains in the chest and left arm and "general restlessness" awakened him several times, a medical bulletin stated.

Johnson, 61, who suffered a heart attack in 1955, entered the Army hospital Monday after suffering chest pains caused by hardening of the coronary arteries.

"There is no evidence of a worsening of the underlying heart disease," said Lt. Col. Robert North, the hospital's chief of cardiology. "Our concern is always that the president get adequate rest and relaxation."

He said Johnson's over-all condition was satisfactory.

Reds In Laos Problem For Nixon

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A North Vietnamese drive west and south from the Plain of Jars would pose a fundamental challenge to President Nixon's doctrine of minimum U.S. involvement in Asia.

This view is held by many Americans and Western diplomats in Vientiane as well as by Laotian government officials. However, it is by no means certain that the North Vietnamese will go much farther. They have paused to bring up supplies after sweeping unchecked through the Plain of Jars almost to the Sala Phoukhoun crossroads on the Vientiane-Luang Prabang highway.

One thing has been proved: U.S. air power as employed so far is not enough to stop the North Vietnamese in Laos.

American fighter-bombers fly daily raids in an attempt to cut the roads and slow down the enemy offensive, aided on several occasions by the U.S. B52 bombers.

The B52s for months have been attacking the North Vietnamese traffic to South Vietnam along the Ho Chi Minh trail down eastern Laos, but some diplomats consider use of America's biggest bombers in the Plain of Jars area as an escalation of American military involvement in Laos.

Before the North Vietnamese and their Pathet Lao allies launched their offensive, their prime objective was believed to be the Plain of Jars. The Communist forces held the plain for years and last year pushed west from it to Sala Phoukhoun. Then the North Vietnamese withdrew, leaving the weaker Pathet Lao forces to hold the territory, and Gen. Vang Pao's Meo guerrillas drove them back and took the Plain of Jars.

The North Vietnamese now have an estimated 20,000 troops and better equipment in the area. They are also four months ahead of their timetable last year. This has led many analysts to conclude that the North Vietnamese will try to take Vang Pao's operational headquarters at Long Cheng, his main supply base at Sam Thong and Vang Vieng, 55 miles north of Vientiane.

Vietnam observers believe this would seriously threaten the viability of Prince Souvanna Phouma's government, but they

Proxmire Blames Pentagon For Lockheed Difficulties

WASHINGTON (AP) — The urgent appeal of the nation's largest military contractor for up to $641.2 million in federal funds exposes a breakdown in Pentagon policies that could bring the collapse of the defense industry, Sen. William Proxmire says.

The Wisconsin Democrat, a vehement critic of defense spending, said the payments requested by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. Thursday is "bailout money" and the decision to pay Lockheed should be made by Congress, not the military.

Lockheed reported a $32.6 million loss for 1969 and said it will have critical financial problems if the Pentagon delays payments of up to $641.2 million on four major weapons systems while disputes over the final prices of the contracts drag on.

"The tragedy is that much more than the fate of a single corporation has been placed in jeopardy by the colossal failure of the Department of Defense," Proxmire said.

"Lockheed and practically every other aerospace contractor is seriously undercapitalized with net assets far below the level of its military business," he said. "It has been a mistake to concentrate so much of our defense program in the hands of a few giant contractors."

"A continuation of present policies and practices could bring about a collapse of the defense industry with serious damage to our military security."

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Lockheed contends it is entitled to almost $1 billion more for the four weapons programs than the Pentagon says.

Lockheed board chairman D. J. Haughton wrote Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard that the situation poses "disastrous potential" for the company.

Haughton asked an additional

$435 million to $500 million for the controversial C5 cargo

cutting back an expected order of 120 transports to 8.1. The Army also canceled its $1 billion contract for production of the Cheyenne helicopter, saying Lockheed failed to meet specifications and production schedules.

Haughton asked $71 million on its shipbuilding contracts, $45.2 million on the Cheyenne helicopter program and $25 million on the Short Range Attack Missile (SRAM).

Lockheed president A.C. Kitchin said in a statement the firm will continue with the four programs while awaiting a reply from the Pentagon. "Pending a reply, there will not be any adverse effects on the four programs, and, of course, all other military and commercial programs will be unaffected."

Senators Seek To Soften 1965 Voting Rights Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — After losing a key test vote, Senate forces opposing extension of the 1965 Voting Rights Act have changed tactics in hopes of softening the law.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., called up an amendment today weakening the act by limiting its coverage to only two states — Georgia and South Carolina — in their entirety. At present, the law applies in seven Southern states.

The Senate Thursday defeated 47-32 a move to block extension of the law for five years, giving civil rights leaders a significant victory and handing the Nixon administration a setback.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., an administration supporter, said more amendments are forthcoming in an effort to find a middle ground between outright extension of the 1965 act and the nationwide voting rights bill urged by President Nixon.

The Senate vote contrasted sharply with House action last December, when the administration bill triumphed over an extension of the 1965 act by a five-vote margin.

The Thursday vote came on Hruska's motion to table — and thus kill — a substitute to the administration's bill.

The substitute, by Sens. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., not only extends the 1965 act without change for five years, but it bans use of voter literacy tests in any state and establishes uniform residency requirements for voting in presidential elections.

Scott, Senate GOP leader, cited gains in Negro voting in the South since passage of the 1965 act.

But Hruska said the law should cover all the states and provide uniform procedures for protecting minority groups against denial of voting rights.

The 1965 act, which expires in August, suspends voter literacy tests and authorizes federal registrars in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia and 39 counties in North Carolina.

It was drafted to apply automatically to states in which literacy tests were used and in which less than 50 per cent of the voting age population was registered or voted in the 1964 presidential election.

Ervin's amendment based the formula on the 1968 election. He called it a redemption move giving credit for increases in registration and voting since passage of the act.

Jaded? Take Vacation Trip To Siberia

SEATTLE (AP) — Mysterious Siberia, until now best known abroad as the place of banishment for Russia's political dropouts, is being opened up to summer vacation flights by American tourists.

The 3,800-mile aerial service by Alaskan Airlines between Anchorage and Khabarovsk received final approval of the Soviet Union Thursday.

At Khabarovsk the tourists will be taken over by the Soviet state airline Aeroflot for trips to places such as Bratsk, which claims the world's biggest hydroelectric plant, and Lake Baikal, the world's deepest fresh water lake.

Transportation Consultants International, a travel organization, has booked 10 flights for a total of 1,200 persons, beginning June 6 and ending Sept. 27.

Their trips will last 8 to 15 days, and those on the longer ones will go on from Siberia to Samarkand, Tashkent, Kiev and Moscow.

The only present American air service to the Soviet Union is flown by Pan American, between New York and Moscow.

Clouds May Blot Eclipse

Prediction Calls
For Possible Rain

NEW YORK (AP) — Weather threatens to draw a frustrating curtain over Saturday's stunning spectacle of a total eclipse of the life-sustaining sun.

An early Weather Bureau prediction was that cloudiness and rain over wide areas would hide the view of the moon marching across the face of the sun.

Despite any clouds, hundreds will witness the totality of the eclipse. They will be astronomers and other scientists, some newsmen and photographers, flying seven to eight miles high aboard special jet flights. And perhaps some passengers aboard regular airliners will be lucky enough to be at the right places at the right times to see the eclipse.

Cameras and special scientific instruments will record and analyze the event aboard some 70 rockets vaulting up to altitudes of about 100 miles, and from 12 probes to be fired from guns, and from the Applications Technology Satellite-3, shifted into a new orbit so it can photograph the blob of the moon's shadow whizzing over the earth at about 1,500 miles an hour.

Bad weather aground will be particularly galling because another total eclipse will not sweep across any part of the continental United States until 2024.

A total eclipse is a rare and rewarding scientific event. To boost their chances of seeing it, some 800 scientists have set up specialized and costly equipment in and around Miahautlan, in the south Mexico state of Oaxaca, where the odds for clear weather are better. Amateur astronomers are congregating at Valdosta, Ga., among other sites.

Make Drawing Of Hunted Man

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police were distributing a composite drawing of a man who raped several Ohio State University coeds in their search for the killer of two young people.

Sought is a white man between 23 and 26 years of age, about 5-foot-10 and weighing 175-185 pounds. Some of his victims said he had a stubby beard and wore glasses.

Police believe the rapist might have been involved in the brutal slaying last weekend of Mary Petry, 20, Portsmouth, and William Sproat, 22, Haverton, Pa., in an apartment near the OSU campus. Both were stabbed and beaten.

246 Enemy, 8 Americans Reported Dead

SAIGON (AP) — Action picked up in various sectors of South Vietnam Thursday, and the allied commands reported 246 enemy soldiers and eight Americans killed. Forty Americans were reported wounded, and the Saigon government said its casualties were light.

Four of the U.S. dead were crewmen of a helicopter shot down 20 miles northeast of Song Be and a mile from the Cambodian border. It was the 3,427th U.S. helicopter reported lost in South Vietnam.

Ground action was reported in the Mekong Delta, below the Cambodian border north of Saigon and in the Que Son Valley area south of Da Nang.

South Vietnamese forces reported killing 98 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, 57 of them in continuing operations in the western Mekong Delta and farther south on the edge of the U Minh Forest. The government said another 31 of the enemy were captured.

These were some of the clashes reported:

Near the scene of the alleged My Lai massacre, a combined action platoon of 12 U.S. Marines had 20 to 30 South Vietnamese militiamen were hit by an estimated 100 Viet Cong. The U.S. Command said a three-hour battle followed, with one Marine killed, and eight Marines and several Vietnamese wounded. Enemy casualties were not known.

Another American was killed and nine were wounded when troops of the Americal Division

Accidents Kill

116,000 Persons

During 1969

CHICAGO (AP) — Accidents in the United States killed 116,000 persons in 1969 and cost the nation more than $23.5 billion, the National Safety Council reports.

The council added in its report Thursday that accidents remained the fourth leading cause of death last year, exceeded only by heart disease, cancer and stroke.

In addition to those killed, the council said, 10.8 million persons were injured, of whom 400,000 were permanently impaired to some degree.

Deaths in motor vehicle accidents rose 2 per cent in 1969 to a total of 56,400 compared with 55,200 the previous year.

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Watches, yodeling, and contented cows for years have made up the tourist image of Switzerland. Lately there has been an unadvertised addition: Secret Swiss bank accounts.

Unlike the traditional scenery, the bank accounts have become a thorny issue in U.S.-Swiss relations normally as untroubled as Lake Zurich on a summer day.

United States officials charge illicit funds from organized crime are being increasingly routed into Switzerland. Some estimate the total may run to several hundred million dollars annually. Swiss official sources call such figures exaggerated.

The U.S. charges have been dramatized by a recent large-scale swindle of the U.S. government in which the most important defendants, convicted by a Washington District Court, channeled more than $3.3 million into secret Swiss bank accounts.

Legislation is being prepared in the United States to curb abuse of secret foreign accounts. Swiss-American talks in Washington could lead to a judicial assistance treaty to help track down criminal funds in Switzerland.

The mere definition of crime is producing headaches. Forgery in the United States is not necessarily identical with forgery under Swiss law. Tax evasion is a crime in the United States. Here it is considered a "civil offense" although violators can draw stiff penalties.

What the Swiss consider crime and what they do not is of major importance in breaking the walls of bank secrecy. The Federal Banking Act provides for jail terms of up to six months and fines of up to 20,000 francs or $8,600 for any Swiss banking employee violating secrecy rules. Only a court decision can release a banker from his professional obligations.

In clearcut criminal cases, a court order is readily available. American diplomats in Switzerland confirm that even without a judicial assistance treaty they regularly have obtained help from Swiss authorities in such matters. But a treaty, they say, would help speed this process.

Swiss officials say an American gangster charged with an "ordinary crime" in a federal indictment has virtually no chance that his secret Swiss bank account will remain hidden to U.S. investigators. If gangsters are indicted merely on tax charges, any probe in Switzerland is automatically barred.

"On such charges, Swiss authorities cannot take any action," explained Pierre Nussbaumer of the Foreign Ministry. "Swiss banks are forbidden to divulge information in tax matters to our authorities. The same applies, of course, for any inquiry in this field from abroad. The problem would be very simple if the U.S. judicial scheme was modified."

1965 Voting Rights Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — After losing a key test vote, Senate forces opposing extension of the 1965 Voting Rights Act have changed tactics in hopes of softening the law.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., called up an amendment today weakening the act by limiting its coverage to only two states — Georgia and South Carolina — in their entirety. At present, the law applies in seven Southern states.

The Senate Thursday defeated 47-32 a move to block extension of the law for five years, giving civil rights leaders a significant victory and handing the Nixon administration a setback.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., an administration supporter, said more amendments are forthcoming in an effort to find a middle ground between outright extension of the 1965 act and the nationwide voting rights bill urged by President Nixon.

The Senate vote contrasted sharply with House action last December, when the administration bill triumphed over an extension of the 1965 act by a five-vote margin.

The Thursday vote came on Hruska's motion to table — and thus kill — a substitute to the administration bill.

The substitute, by Sens. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., not only extends the 1965 act without change for five years, but it bans use of voter literacy tests in any state and establishes uniform residency requirements for voting in presidential elections.

Scott, Senate GOP leader, cited gains in Negro voting in the South since passage of the 1965 act.

But Hruska said the law should cover all the states and provide uniform procedures for protecting minority groups against denial of voting rights.

The 1965 act, which expires in August, suspends voter literacy tests and authorizes federal registrars in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia and 39 counties in North Carolina.

It was drafted to apply automatically to states in which literacy tests were used and in which less than 50 per cent of the voting age population was registered or voted in the 1964 presidential election.

Ervin's amendment based the formula on the 1968 election. He called it a redemption move giving credit for increases in registration and voting since passage of the act.

Make Drawing
Of Hunted Man

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police were distributing a composite drawing of a man who raped several Ohio State University coeds in their search for the killer of two young people.

Sought is a white man between 23 and 26 years of age, about 5-foot-10 and weighing 175-185 pounds. Some of his victims said he had a stubby beard and wore glasses.

Police believe the rapist might have been involved in the brutal slaying last weekend of Mary Petry, 20, Portsmouth, and William Sproat, 22, Haverton, Pa., in an apartment near the OSU campus. Both were stabbed and beaten.

At Khabarovsk the tourists will be taken over by the Soviet state airline Aeroflot for trips to places such as Bratsk, which claims the world's biggest hydroelectric plant, and Lake Baikal, the world's deepest fresh water lake.

Transportation Consultants International, a travel organization, has booked 10 flights for a total of 1,200 persons, beginning June 6 and ending Sept. 27.

Their trips will last 8 to 15 days, and those on the longer ones will go on from Siberia to Samarkand, Tashkent, Kiev and Moscow.

Clouds May Blot Eclipse

Prediction Calls
For Possible Rain

NEW YORK (AP) — Weather threatens to draw a frustrating curtain over Saturday's stunning spectacle of a total eclipse of the life-sustaining sun.

An early Weather Bureau prediction was that cloudiness and rain over wide areas would hide the view of the moon marching across the face of the sun.

Despite any clouds, hundreds will witness the totality of the eclipse. They will be astronomers and other scientists, some newsmen and photographers, flying seven to eight miles high aboard special jet flights. And perhaps some passengers aboard regular airliners will be lucky enough to be at the right places at the right times to see the eclipse.

Cameras and special scientific instruments will record and analyze the event aboard some 70 rockets vaulting up to altitudes of about 100 miles, and from 12 probes to be fired from guns, and from the Applications Technology Satellite-3, shifted into a new orbit so it can photograph the blob of the moon's shadow whizzing over the earth at about 1,500 miles an hour.

Accidents Kill 116,000 Persons During 1969

CHICAGO (AP) — Accidents in the United States killed 116,000 persons in 1969 and cost the nation more than $23.5 billion, the National Safety Council reports.

The council added in its report Thursday that accidents remained the fourth leading cause of death last year, exceeded only by heart disease, cancer and stroke.

In addition to those killed, the council said, 10.8 million persons were injured, of whom 400,000 were permanently impaired to some degree.

Deaths in motor vehicle accidents rose 2 per cent in 1969 to a total of 56,400 compared with 55,200 the previous year.

Israel Thwarts Arab Raid; 3 Guerrillas Reported Dead

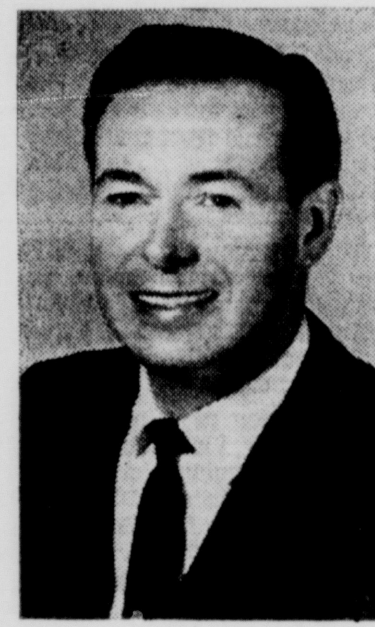

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel says it thwarted an Arab amphibious strike tonight with a raid across the Dead Sea in which three Arabs were killed and three were captured.

There also was fighting on the Lebanese border Thursday night where guerrillas have stepped up their activity in recent weeks, prompting Israeli warnings to the Lebanese. One Israeli soldier was killed and two were wounded.

An Israeli spokesman said interrogation of the Arab guerrillas captured in the Dead Sea raid Thursday disclosed 17 guerrillas were to "come across" in two rubber boats with 130mm Katyusha rockets and special carriers of the kind used in the rocket attack on Jerusalem last August.

The spokesman said the guerrillas apparently planned to set up a base in the Hebron Hills south of the Israeli capital.

Last Aug. 26, guerrillas fired three rockets at a Jerusalem hotel, but no one was injured. Security forces later found 13 unfired missiles on a ridge five miles south of the city, some of them Katyushas.

In Amman, the Palestine Armed Struggle Command confirmed the raid, saying two Israeli helicopters landed commandos who attacked a number of Al Fatah guerrillas.

The Israeli spokesman did not mention the helicopters. He said the troops struck a guerrilla base at Zarqa Ma'in, on the east bank of the Dead Sea 10 miles south of where the Jordan River flows into the sea.

He said the Israelis attacked the base near the water's edge about 10 a.m. and returned to Israeli territory at dusk. He added there were no Israeli casualties.

The increase in violence on the Lebanese border is causing concern in both Tel Aviv and Beirut.

Israeli newspapers said Wednesday the government has warned the Lebanese through diplomatic channels that it is risking reprisals by not curbing the guerrillas. In Beirut, there are fears that the Israelis are planning another major strike into Lebanon, possibly the biggest yet.

The border had been calm for several months, but the Palestinians confirmed they have resumed their raids into Israel. But they maintain that Lebanon is only a corridor for the raiders and that they are not using bases in southern Lebanon.

On the Egyptian front, Israeli planes crossed the Suez Canal today and attacked a radar station north of Dumiat in the Nile Delta about 30 miles west of Port Said, the Israeli command announced.

250 Attend Annual Meet Of Family YMCA Here

Approximately 250 people attended the Annual Meeting of the Pickaway County Family YMCA Thursday evening.

Impressed with his Y-oriented background, the audience learned that Braun still maintains his Y membership along with his wife and three children who are all active members of the YMCA.

In recognition of his appearance here, Y President Robert Johnson presented Braun with a special service award. Accompanying the award star here was Dick Murgatroyd, producer of the 50-50 Club show.

DURING a brief business meeting, the following directors were elected to a three-year term on the YMCA Board of Directors: Mrs. David Bolender, Michael Bruno, Don Collins and Alan E. Trax. Fourth District Court of Appeals reversed a decision of the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court recently against James Chapman, Circleville.

Chapman, 41, was found guilty of check forgery in a jury trial May 1, 1969 of signing a check in his brother's name. He was sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary.

The Appeals board ruled that the local court had failed to direct the proper verdict against Chapman. They declared that it was the duty of the prosecution to disprove a statement by Chapman that he had his brother's permission and not for the defense to prove it.

Members of the Court of Appeals issuing the decision were Gordon Grey, Homer Abele and Earl Stephenson.

Mayor's Report

By Mayor
Richard L. Gerhardt

Several months ago a joint effort with the Pickaway County Community Action Organization (PICCA) and myself was begun to try to get better state employment services for Circleville and Pickaway County's citizens.

Armed with a list of people who had told PICCA staff members that they were seeking work, we requested that the one half day employment service given to the county be expanded.

Our request was enthusiastically received by the state bureau of employment services (BES) and arrangements were made to interview, counsel, and try to place those on the list that was given to them. For the last several weeks, the bureau of employment services (BES) has had several trained counselors in Circleville working on the backlog.

Because of the previous indications of interest and the expected new interest, for the next several weeks the BES has announced a special concentrated employment service for Circleville and Pickaway County for all those seeking employment. This special service will consist of having the Mobile BES Employment Office Bus in three locations in the County, in addition to continuing to offer service at the Circleville office.

The Mobile Office will be located at Long and Main Street in Ashville, March 9-13 and will be open the following hours: March 9, noon to 5 p.m.; March 10, 9 to 5 p.m.; March 11, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; March 12, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; March 13, 9 a.m. to noon.

The following week, March 16-20, the mobile office will move to Williamsport and will be located at the fire station with a similar weekly schedule.

From March 23-27, the mobile unit office will be at Commercial Point at the center of town. The schedule will again be similar.

During the week of March 9-27, the Circleville BES Office located on the second floor at the Memorial Hall on East Main Street, telephone 474-5147, will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Both the mobile office and the Circleville Office will offer all employment services as job placement, vocational training, counseling and testing. (Unemployment compensation service will be offered on the same day as before.) There are indications that after the special concerted effort is completed that the BES will give Circleville and Pickaway County more regular service than in the past. We hope to be able to announce the expended regular service for our area soon.

It is hoped that anyone seeking employment will contact the Circleville Office or the Mobile Office when it is in his area.

The employment service is free and it is to help anyone who is looking for work, but you must contact them for them to be able to help you.

also believe that President Nixon can do no more than step up air strikes. The introduction of American ground troops into Laos is thought to be politically unacceptable in the United States, and Prince Souvanna has said he wouldn't ask for them anyway.

The United States also may press Britain and the Soviet Union to heed Souvanna Phouma's call for a new meeting of the 1962 Geneva conference on Laos. But there is no indication Moscow would pay any heed to Washington, or that the North Vietnamese and the Chinese Communists would attend.

Prince Souvanna told a news conference today that U.S. bombing in Laos will stop only when North Vietnamese troops are withdrawn from the country. But he repeated an offer he made earlier to make no opposition to North Vietnamese use of the Ho Chi Minh trail if Hanoi withdraws its troops from northern and central Laos.

Asked if U.S. bombing of the trail might be stopped in return for withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops, Souvanna replied: "I cannot answer this question. This concerns the Americans."

Asked if the United States was violating the Geneva accords by bombing in Laos, Souvanna said: "No. I have always said there are two things to take into consideration—the cause and the effect."

"The cause (of the bombing) is the North Vietnamese interference in Laos. Since the North Vietnamese troops attacked the neutralists in May 1964, we asked for American intervention."

Chiropractic Helps 'Elderly' Folks

Many grandparents suffer chronic ailments throughout their later years because they think ill health "comes with old age." They quite often endure miserable conditions because they do not realize chiropractic may help.

We find the majority of these elderly ailments can be corrected or greatly relieved — adding years to their precious lives and providing comfort in their remaining years.

Regardless of the chronic nature of the condition or age of the patient, there had to be a cause behind every effect. Any body function that becomes defective must have some defect CAUSING the abnormality. We find nerve interference in the spine responsible for the vast majority of ill health. Chiropractors do not accept all "old-age" problems that come in — but they do help most all they do accept, such as the following:

A 76 year old great grandmother was suffering with multiple backaches, rigidity of the spine, arthritic pains and high blood pressure, improved so well within a few weeks that her 81 year old husband asked to be accepted too. He too responded well of rigidity of the neck, lumbago, sciatic pains, a kidney irritation and a stomach disorder.

A 72 year old widow of a prominent businessman with recurring headaches, nervous exhaustion, dizziness, indigestion, constipation, shoulder pains, low backaches, and kidney discomfort is now a picture of health and works in her yard daily. She retains her healthy, happy feeling by regular monthly spinal check-ups.

A 71 year old great grandmother suffered smothering spells, chest pains, heart palpitation, high blood pressure, constipation and nervous hypertension. She too, enjoys better health.

Israel Thwarts Arab Raid; 3 Guerrillas Reported Dead

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel says it thwarted an Arab amphibious strike tonight with a raid across the Dead Sea in which three Arabs were killed and three were captured.

There also was fighting on the Lebanese border Thursday night where guerrillas have stepped up their activity in recent weeks, prompting Israeli warnings to the Lebanese. One Israeli soldier was killed and two were wounded.

An Israeli spokesman said in interrogation of the Arab guerrillas captured in the Dead Sea raid Thursday disclosed 17 guerrillas were to "come across" in two rubber boats with 130mm Katyusha rockets and special carriers of the kind used in the rocket attack on Jerusalem last August.

The spokesman said the guerrillas apparently planned to set up a base in the Hebron Hills south of the Israeli capital.

Last Aug. 26, guerrillas fired three rockets at a Jerusalem hotel, but no one was injured. Security forces later found 13 unfired missiles on a ridge five miles south of the city, some of them Katyushas.

In Amman, the Palestine Armed Struggle Command confirmed the raid, saying two Israeli helicopters landed commandos who attacked a number of Al Fatah guerrillas.

The Israeli spokesman did not mention the helicopters. He said the troops struck a guerrilla base at Zarga Ma'in, on the east bank of the Dead Sea 10 miles south of where the Jordan River flows into the sea.

He said the Israelis attacked the base near the water's edge about 10 a.m. and returned to Israeli territory at dusk. He added there were no Israeli casualties.

The increase in violence on the Lebanese border is causing concern in both Tel Aviv and Beirut.

Israeli newspapers said Wednesday the government has warned the Lebanese through diplomatic channels that it is risking reprisals by not curbing the guerrillas. In Beirut, there are fears that the Israelis are planning another major strike into Lebanon, possibly the biggest yet.

The border had been calm for several months, but the Palestinians confirmed they have resumed their raids into Israel. But they maintain that Lebanon is only a corridor for the raiders and that they are not using bases in southern Lebanon.

On the Egyptian front, Israeli planes crossed the Suez Canal today and attacked a radar station north of Dumiat in the Nile Delta about 30 miles west of Port Said, the Israeli command announced.

Appellate Court Reverses Local Court Decision

Fourth District Court of Appeals reversed a decision of the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court recently against James Chapman, Circleville.

Chapman, 41, was found guilty of check forgery in a jury trial May 1, 1969 of signing a check in his brother's name. He was sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary.

The Appeals board ruled that the local court had failed to direct the proper verdict against Chapman. They declared that it was the duty of the prosecution to disprove a statement by Chapman that he had his brother's permission and not for the defense to prove it.

Members of the Court of Appeals issuing the decision were Gordon Grey, Homer Abele and Earl Stephenson.

Mayor's Report

By Mayor
Richard L. Gerhard

Several months ago a joint effort with the Pickaway County Community Action Organization (PICCA) and myself was begun to try to get better state employment services for Circleville and Pickaway County's citizens.

Armed with a list of people who had told PICCA staff members that they were seeking work, we requested that the one half day employment service given to the county be expanded.

Our request was enthusiastically received by the state bureau of employment services (BES) and arrangements were made to interview, counsel, and try to place those on the list that was given to them. For the last several weeks, the bureau of employment services (BES) has had several trained counselors in Circleville working on the backlog.

Because of the previous indications of interest and the expected new interest, for the next several weeks the BES has announced a special concentrated employment service for Circleville and Pickaway County for all those seeking employment. This special service will consist of having the Mobile BES Employment Office Bus in three locations in the County, in addition to continuing to offer service at the Circleville office.

The Mobile Office will be located at Long and Main Street in Ashville, March 9-13 and will be open the following hours: March 9, noon to 5 p.m.; March 10, 9 to 5 p.m.; March 11, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; March 12, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; March 13, 9 a.m. to noon.

The following week, March 16-20, the mobile office will move to Williamsport and will be located at the fire station with a similar weekly schedule.

From March 23-27, the mobile unit office will be at Commercial Point at the center of town. The schedule will again be similar.

During the week of March 9-27, the Circleville BES Office located on the second floor at the Memorial Hall on East Main Street, telephone 474-5147, will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Both the mobile office and the Circleville Office will offer all employment services as job placement, vocational training, counseling and testing. (Unemployment compensation service will be offered on the same day as before.) There are indications that after the special concerted effort is completed that the BES will give Circleville and Pickaway County more regular service than in the past. We hope to be able to announce the expanded regular service for our area soon.

It is hoped that anyone seeking employment will contact the Circleville Office or the Mobile Office when it is in his area.

The employment service is free and it is to help anyone who is looking for work, but you must contact them for them to be able to help you.

Chiropractic Helps 'Elderly' Folks

Many grandparents and great-grandparents suffer chronic ailments throughout their later years because they think ill health "comes with old age." They quite often endure miserable conditions because they do not realize chiropractic may help.

We find the majority of these elderly ailments can be corrected or greatly relieved — adding years to their precious lives and providing comfort in their remaining years.

Regardless of the chronic nature of the condition or age of the patient, there had to be a cause behind every effect. Any body function that becomes defective must have some defect CAUSING the abnormality. We find nerve interference in the spine responsible for the vast majority of ill health. Chiropractors do not accept all 'old-age' problems that come in — but they do help most all they do accept, such as the following:

A 76 year old great grandmother was suffering with multiple backaches, rigidity of the spine, arthritic pains and high blood pressure, improved so well within a few weeks that her 81 year old husband asked to be accepted too. He too responded well of rigidity of the neck, lumbar, sciatic pains, a kidney irritation and a stomach disorder.

A 72 year old widow of a prominent businessman with recurring headaches, nervous exhaustion, dizziness, indigestion, constipation, shoulder pains, low backaches, and kidney discomfort is now a picture of health and works in her yard daily. She retains her healthy, happy feeling by regular monthly spinal check-ups.

A 71 year old great grandmother suffered smothering spells, chest pains, heart palpitation, high blood pressure, constipation and nervous hypertension. She too, enjoys better health.

If you are suffering in your later years, investigate the chiropractic profession. Chiropractic adds years to life and life to years.

also believe that President Nixon can do no more than step up air strikes. The introduction of American ground troops into Laos is thought to be politically unacceptable in the United States, and Prince Souvanna has said he wouldn't ask for them anyway.

The United States also may press Britain and the Soviet Union to heed Souvanna Phouma's call for a new meeting of the 1962 Geneva conference on Laos. But there is no indication Moscow would pay any heed to Washington, or that the North Vietnamese and the Chinese Communists would attend.

Prince Souvanna told a news conference today that U.S. bombing in Laos will stop only when North Vietnamese troops are withdrawn from the country. But he repeated an offer he made earlier to make no opposition to North Vietnamese use of the Ho Chi Minh trail if Hanoi withdraws its troops from northern and central Laos.

Asked if U.S. bombing of the trail might be stopped in return for withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops, Souvanna replied: "I cannot answer this question. This concerns the Americans."

Asked if the United States was violating the Geneva accords by bombing in Laos, Souvanna said: "No. I have always said there are two things to take into consideration—the cause and the effect."

"The cause (of the bombing) is the North Vietnamese interference in Laos. Since the North Vietnamese troops attacked the neutralists in May 1964, we asked for American intervention."

Pikering Quits Post

RUSSELLS POINT, Ohio (AP)—Lloyd Pickering, who had been ousted as mayor of this Indian Lake resort community then elected council president Feb. 9, has resigned that post to "prevent future complications."

However, Pickering, whose removal as mayor was effective with a court journal entry Feb. 4, said he would remain as a council member.

His removal as mayor had been ordered after a court hearing in which he was accused of neglect of duty in enforcing peace during a July 4 youth disturbance at the resort. He was accused of firing 120 shotgun shells and striking a youth with the butt of the shotgun during the disturbance.

Council members had elected him to replace Alvin Tipton, who took over as mayor, and immediately reorganized and appointed the ex-mayor as council president to show they supported his actions during the controversial July 4 disturbance.

The court ruling ousting Pickering as mayor is now being appealed.

LONDON (AP) — Most City of London churches keep commuters' hours. They open their doors at 8:30 a.m. and close around 6. Only a few offer Sunday worship.

The fact that nearly half a million daily commuters flock into the City, London's financial district, explains the odd situation. A mere 3,500 sleep nights in the square mile of banks and finance houses.

Back before the Great Fire of 1666, when the City was all of London, it had 103 parish churches and the population to fill them. The Great Fire reduced the number to less than 50 and the Nazi blitz of World War II brought the figure down again to 37.

Today the Rev. A.J. Drewett, the curiously titled rural dean of the City of London and chaplain to the lord mayor, has barely 150 people living in his parish of St. Mary Lotherbury, tucked away behind the massive Bank of England. Yet something like 50,000 work in it by day.

Across the street and just behind the lord mayor's residence, the Mansion House, the Rev. Chad Varah of St. Stephen Walbrook commutes to work like many of the City clergy. He has only 25 resident parishioners, though thousands commute daily to Bucklebury House, London's second biggest office building.

With their parishes gone new tasks had to be found for the City churches remaining. Those beyond repair as a result of war damage were sold off for building sites. The blackened stones of St. Mary Aldermanbury, destroyed by fire bombs, were transported bodily to Fulton, Mo., to make a Churchill

U.S. Condemns POW Treatment By Viet Reds

PARIS (AP) — The United States today condemned North Vietnam's treatment of U.S. prisoners of war and said indignation is rising among Americans about "the complete disregard which you have shown for basic humanitarian considerations."

memorial chapel at Westminster College.

Parliament agreed that 23 of the 37 remaining should continue as parish churches with extended scope, while the rest were redesignated as guild churches.

The difference is mainly technical. A parish church, while ministering mainly to commuters, may occasionally be required for normal parish purposes—a rare City baptism, a wedding, a funeral, even a Sunday service. The guild churches are relieved of such duties and the welfare of City workers is their prime concern.

But, since nearly all the City churches are of great historic as well as monetary value, preservationist bodies are vigilant to see they are not touched.

Although all the churches are open to workers seeking a moment's respite from busy City life, each is assigned some special task. Some have a priest-always on hand for counselling. Others give lunch hour services, recitals or concerts. Some have libraries. The church of St. Mary le-bow on Cheapside, has twin pulpits from which the rector conducts dialogues with top politicians or celebrities to draw the midday crowds.

Dean Drewett says a City church means much pastoral work.

"Many people like to bring their problems here," he says, "because it all seems more anonymous than if they went to their local vicar at home. Others are not Christians at all, but they have problems too."

A Perfect Solution

At least three paper manufacturing plants in the United States are now converting used newsprint into new paper, and are succeeding economically where others who tried various processes in the past failed.

Nor are the latest ventures in reprocessing newsprint small in scope. Some 365,000 tons of old newspaper were converted into 320,000 tons of fresh newsprint last year and the value of the new product was $45 million.

Salvaging old newsprint has a number of advantages, particularly in an era when disposal of solid wastes has become a major concern. Reusing hundreds of thousands of tons of newsprint recycles back into the economic mainstream that much refuse instead of burying it in the ground.

It also means a new and valuable source of paper has been found which will conserve timber resources. The recycled newsprint is cheaper than that made from virgin pulp, selling for about $7 a ton less.

The venture has been accomplished through free enterprise, without a dollar in government subsidy. Even the collection of used newspapers for the conversion plants benefited various charitable organizations to the tune of about $9 million last year.

This is solving the pollution problem in a manner which benefits not only an industry, but the entire community.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — You'll be hearing a lot more about warrants in the next few months, not only the kind that lead to arrests, but the stock market type that whets the appetites of speculators.

A warrant is a piece of paper that gives its owner the right to buy shares of a company's common stock at a fixed price, even though the market price of the stock might be considerably higher.

It isn't much more than that, either. It pays no dividends. And if it isn't turned in within a specified time it simply evaporates into nothingness. It isn't a claim on assets; it is only a right to buy stock. But it can be very profitable.

Assume an individual owned 100 warrants to buy for $12 a share of stock in a company selling for $10 a share. He was given the warrants in order to induce him to buy the company's bonds. Each warrant and $12 is worth one share.

Naturally he won't exercise his right under such circumstances. He'll wait for the stock price to rise. And, if the company is solid, progressive and well managed enterprise, chances are the stock price will rise.

Assume that the shares climb to $18. The owner of the warrants can redeem them for a similar number of shares that have been set aside for him. For $1,200, he will receive $1,800 in stock that he can immediately sell for a $600 profit.

Remember, that $1,200 was invested for a very brief time. Had he purchased shares instead he very likely would have tied up his money for months or years.

Although a lot of investors have lost money dealing in such securities, some professional traders have reaped tremendous profits on relatively small investments. A return of several hundred per cent is possible.

The big news in warrants this year developed in recent weeks when:

—American Telephone & Telegraph Co. announced a capital-raising package that included stocks, debentures and warrants. A formula was developed permitting stockholders to buy debentures to which warrants will be attached.

—The New York Stock Exchange announced it had approved in principle the trading of warrants on its floor is now in the process of discussing the specifics with officials of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The AT&T decision to sweeten its fund-raising effort with warrants gave such securities a respectability they hadn't possessed to any great degree. AT&T, after all, is the premier corporate fund raiser.

And the Big Board, encouraged by AT&T's action, has added to that respectability. Warrants never before made it to the exchange. And in order to clear the way, in fact, stock exchange rules will have to be changed.

But why should a warrant be listed or traded? Well, as with anything else of value, markets soon develop. While the warrant was conceived as an appendage to a bond or debenture offering, it soon develops a life of its own.

Soon after a company gets its bond issue sold, aided by the attractiveness of the warrant given to purchasers, it might notify the buyers that, should they choose, they might detach and sell the warrants for what ever price they might be able to obtain for them.

Warrants are great if the price of the stock rises. But they aren't much good except as trading vehicles if the stock price remains in a slump. If the price of the stock falls, then the warrant-holder tumbles too.

The terms of the AT&T offer specify the holder may turn in his warrants for stock anytime from six months after the offer planned for next month to 4½ years after the offer. After that they cease to exist.

If AT&T's financing plan succeeds a lot of other companies are likely to follow. Money is hard to get these days and the prices are high. The warrant therefore, may be just the thing to pry loose from investors those hard to get funds.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that an office boy gets tired of hearing:

"Hey, boy!"
"So you're the new office boy. Well, if you don't work out any better than the last one, you won't be around here very long."

"Where the deuce is he now? Out in the washroom staring at his hair in the mirror again?"
"I hear you're trying to grow a beard now. Wilbur. The best way to get it started is to put fresh cream on your face and let the cat lick it off."

"Fun is fun, but quit playing tricks on Wilbur. One of you guys sent him out last week to get a left-handed monkey wrench, and he didn't get back for three days."

"Hey, boy!"
"I don't think you should tell that kind of joke with Wilbur here. After all, he's still a kid."

"There's a lot of opportunity here, Wilbur. I started out as an office boy, just like you, and after only 15 years I got promoted to file clerk. That was 10 years ago, and now I think I'm about to get promoted again."

"No, I didn't call you into my office to give you a merit raise, Wilbur. I just need to get some indoor golf practice. Would you mind standing over there on the far corner of the rug with your heels together and your toes apart? Now, what did I do with that putter?"

"Just cashed your check, Wilbur? How about being a good sport and lend me $10 to tide me over the weekend? By the way, don't mention this to any of the other guys. They might not think it looks so good for me to borrow from a minor."

"Your mother just phoned, Wilbur. She says for you to come straight home from work and get caught up on your sleep."

"Don't fret about it, kid. When I was your age I had acne bumps on both sides of my face."

"Hey, boy!"
"Listen, fellows, let up on Wilbur a little today, will you? He's been secretly sending a single rose every day to the vice president's secretary, and this morning he just found out she's leaving to get married."

"Wilbur won't be in tomorrow. He is leading some other night students in a demonstration to clean up City Hall."

"You must be training to be a policeman, Wilbur. You've never around when you're needed."

"Now where has he gone to?"
"Hey, boy! Hey, boy! Hey, boy!"

Pollution Likened To Cigarettes

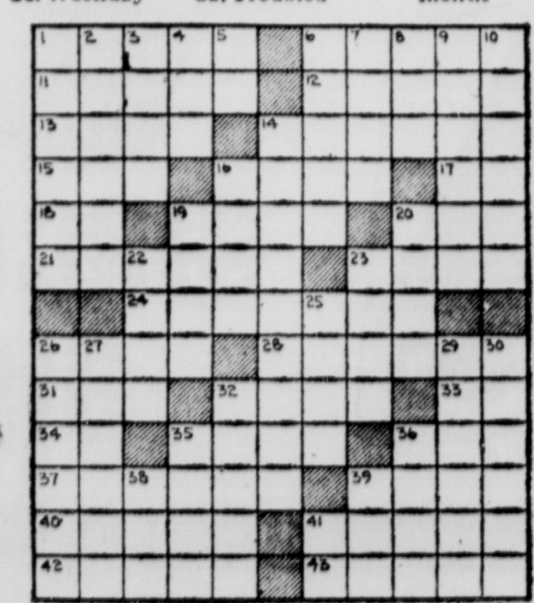

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — A professor studying the effects of air pollution on textile materials says living in polluted air is like "smoking an extra pack of cigarettes a day."

Dr. Victor Salvin, professor of home economics at the University of North Carolina, blames about 65 per cent of air pollution on automobile exhausts.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IN GREAT NECK, L.I., a doctor, summoned to treat a week-end who had swallowed an oyster containing an indigestible hard and gritty substance, removed the offending substance with the observation, "A gritty pearl is like a malady." And in Gloucester, an ingenious manufacturer of fishermen's supplies is advertising a new rod "guaranteed to get a pike's pique." And in Sidi, Morocco, a smart apple has opened a saloon called "Sidi Limit."

Art Buchwald has counted over a hundred seemingly intelligent friends who spend thousands getting to Hong Kong in order to have a suit made to order for thirty dollars. Buchwald confesses he followed the same pattern. Deplaning at Hong Kong, a customs official asked him if he had anything to declare. "Yes," answered Buchwald. "I have one shoulder higher than the other."

Every truck belonging to a large private sanitation outfit bears this sign prominently: "Satisfaction guaranteed or your garbage back."

All you need do is add just five words to your vocabulary every month and in a single year your friends will be wondering who in heck you think you are.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

In a recent column, you reprinted the Oath of Hippocrates. You commented on "how well this medical oath had withstood the ravages of time and with what slight variations as we progressed from one level of society to another." Would you do a similar column on Florence Nightingale so that your readers might be acquainted with this little known pledge?

To the nurses who signed this letter, may I reiterate that which I have said so often. You are a vast group of dedicated human beings who play one of the most vital roles in the total recovery of our patients. The health team could not exist without your contributions to the physical and emotional needs of our patients.

It has always been a source of wonder to me that nurses can serve so many different functions in the complex world of the hospitalized patient. In addition to supplying the medical needs, the nurse with dignity becomes a part-time cook, masseuse, bedmaker, bath-giver and floral decorator. Far too often, these services are taken for granted by patients who, in their own anxiety, believe that they and only they are the nurse's only responsibility.

Unfortunately, anger and hostility are far too often directed towards the nurse because of impatience and irritability of a demanding patient.

The Florence Nightingale oath states: "I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly, to pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug. I will do all in my power to elevate the standard of my profession and I will hold in confidence all matters committed to my keeping and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling. With loyalty I will endeavor to aid the physician in his work and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care."

This oath, originated by Florence Nightingale, the English nurse who lived between 1820 and 1910, is a remarkable document that has survived newer changes in the practical and in the social aspects of medicine of which nursing is such an integral part. This pledge and the Oath of Hippocrates truly represent the pedestal of the architecture upon which all of modern medicine is based.

It is remarkable how solidly and how substantially both of these pledges have been adhered to, making the practice of nursing and medicine one of the great factors in modern society.

Don't underestimate the importance of any swelling of the ankle following even slight injury.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, March 6, the 65th day of 1970. There are 300 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1836, the Alamo in San Antonio, Tex. fell after a 13-day siege.

On this date: In 1475, Renaissance artist Michelangelo was born in Caprese, Italy. In 1857, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the Negro slave, Dred Scott, could not sue for his freedom in a federal court.

In 1945, during World War II, the German city of Cologne fell to the U.S. First Army. In 1953, it was announced in Moscow that Georgi Malenkov had succeeded the late Joseph Stalin as Soviet premier.

In 1957, the former British African colonies of Gold Coast and Togoland became the independent state of Ghana.

In 1961, President John F. Kennedy issued an executive order stating that Americans of all colors and beliefs must have equal job opportunities within the government and with firms doing business with the government.

Ten years ago — Indonesia's President Sukarno was ruling by decree after suspending the parliament. Five years ago — It was reported that a meeting in Moscow of representatives of 19 Communist parties had failed to make progress toward Communist unity.

One year ago — U.S. Astronaut Russell L. Schweickart took a walk in space during an orbital flight by the Apollo 9 spacecraft.

War On Inflation

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

I'd like to believe the Nixon fight on inflation is taking hold. The evidence, though, is still the other way.

Two doubting economists, Pierre Rinfret and Eliot Janeway, held a "strategy meeting" in New York the other day to consult, not with their brother economists, but with business people. Their conclusion, after hacking things about, was that a majority of our economists know how to talk about statistics, which are something that happened two months ago, but don't know anything about the common sense of either business or life itself.

The confirmation of this negative view of most of our economic wizards is glaringly pointed up in the most recent business letter of the Chase Manhattan Bank. On page one the Chase economists say there is a "significant" slowdown in the U.S. economy. So it's good news, then, for the inflation fighters! Alas, on page two of the same bank letter, there is a long report on "the persistent rise in capital spending." The Chase sees this as a paradox: why should businessmen be borrowing at high rates to build new plants — which put people to work at high construction costs — when consumer markets are supposedly slackening off?

But it isn't really a paradox. The business that lets itself become encumbered with an antiquated plant won't last very long. Big business, which has its ways of conjuring up investment money, will pay anything to keep from falling behind in the parade. But the same is true for small business, insofar as it can lay hold of any investment money at all. For example, a young man who makes a good quality of ski hat, and sells it throughout New England, finds he must expand his marketing services or stand to lose out to a bigger company that will inevitably manage to come up with an equally good ski hat itself.

The young man has no alternative: he must team up with a wholesaler who has marketing facilities, he must enter the big time ski equipment shows and he must buy himself two additional looms. More money must be borrowed to pay wages through the summer and to provide the yarn. The banks charge high, but so what? Interest is an income tax deduction and one either stays in the race, or one folds.

Meanwhile, people with skills go on working. If their union leadership pulls them out on strike, they moonlight, for their skills are generally marketable. You don't need any statistics to tell you that skills are at an all-time premium; all you have to do is to try and find someone to repair your TV set, or to trace that mysterious trouble in your motor car. You pay high for such help, and so the incomes of skilled people don't drop. These incomes remain a pressure on prices in the store.

The one thing that is in short supply is houses. Rents will continue to rise, as will the cost of financing a home. The old rule of thumb is that the average man spends a quarter of his income to keep a roof over his head. This is the biggest item in the individual family's inflationary budget. As long as rents are high, inflation will stay.

The Chase economists contradict their remarks about the "significant slowdown" when they say that public utilities and communications companies have no excess capacity and face a rapidly growing demand. Public utilities construction, so Chase says, will rise by some fifteen per cent over last year. Communications, commercial and otherwise, will spend thirteen per cent more on plant and equipment in 1970. Business as a whole will account for a 9.3 per cent construction rise, down a bit from an 11.1 increase in 1969.

The small drop in business construction is mainly due to a fall-off in mining activities and in transportation. Per-versely, the lack of addition to our transportation services is in itself inflationary: scarcity of any service always adds to costs. As for a depression in mining, it would have mixed results. The less gold there is, the less the available backing for currency and credit. But a shortage in other metals means higher prices and more inflation.

These are the musings of a curbstoner economist. As an historian of American business, however, I am sure of my ground in saying that there has never been a depression when capital spending was high. This is one opinion on which both the classical and the Marxian economists, whether curbstoner or not, have always agreed.

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1969-70 television season will be history in about three weeks. Then it will be, as usual, reruns and replacement shows for the next five months.

As far as the commercial net-works are concerned, 1969-70 probably will be, at best, a footnote in TV history. Its entertain-ment has been bland and most of it easily forgotten. The brightest new program was a daily series aimed at children between ages 3 and 5, "Sesame Street."

This series, on the educational network, was not only well done and appealed to its audience but nudged the commercial net-works into doing more than

Lockheed In Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's biggest defense con-tractor has made an urgent and perhaps "unprecedented appeal to the Pentagon for up to $641.2 million in financial assistance pending the outcome of com-pany-military disputes over four major weapons programs.

Lockheed Aircraft Corp., in a letter from Burbank, Calif., to the Pentagon, said it faces "critical financial problems" if payments involved in the pro-grams are held up until after leg-al and contractual settlements are worked out with the Penta-gon.

Lockheed's board chairman, D. J. Haughton, wrote Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard that the money tie-up poses "disastrous potential" for the company.

Haughton specifically re-ferred to problems that Lock-heed has been having with the C5 aircraft, the Cheyenne heli-copter, the short-range attack mis-sile (SRAM) and shipbuild-ing contracts.

Industry-Seeking Team Heads West

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 17-man industry - seeking team from the Ohio Department of Development will make its fifth trip to California next week, headed by the department's de-puty director, Patterson Pepple.

F. P. Nuenschwander, de-velopment director, said Cali-fornia's research and electronic companies will be the prime target for about 170 calls to be made in Los Angeles and San Francisco. The team will leave Sunday and return the following Friday.

The Adult Reading World

Browsers may notice that the library is undergoing some cleaning processes, and also some re-arrangement of books. The staff regrets any in-convenience to patrons, and hope they will be understand-ing while improvements are be-ing made.

Mrs. Ronald Spence, 424 Holiday Lane, will demonstrate the construction of floss Easter eggs at the regular Friday program next week. She will suggest uses for the eggs as home Easter decorations. They make delightful spring gifts, and those who attend may wish to make several for their friends.

Future speakers at the Friday adult programs include Mrs. Carithers, of the Day Care Center, and Mrs. George Schenck, who will show a film on camping.

New titles now available in the main library and on the bookmobile are "The Innocent Bystander" by James Munro and "The Pushbutton Butterfly" by Kin Platt. "Rosa" by Margery Sharp, is also on the shelves of the main library. New paperbacks on the adult shelves are "Soul on Ice" by Eldridge Cleaver, "The Tragic Era" by Claude G. Bowers, "The Bhagavad Gita" trans-lated by Juan Mascaró, "Fifty Poems" by E. E. Cummings, "The Lost World" by Randall Jarrell, "God's Trombones" by James Weldon Johnson, "The Collected Poems of Archibald MacLeish," and "The Best Short Stories by Negro Writers" edited by Langston Hughes.

"The French Lieutenant's Woman" by John Fowles. It is difficult to think of this as fiction — it is so much more. It is entertaining, bewitching, instructive. It is, quite fittingly, on the best seller list.

Mr. Flores, as narrator, uses a Victorian love triangle as the springboard to compare modes, politics and moral values of the nineteenth and 20th centuries, to analyze poetry and to discuss fictional techniques, to spoof some phase of the nineteenth century, then immediately question twentieth century superiority. There is the mystery and melancholy of Bronte. And there is humor. A visit by the hero to a prostitute after having eaten unwisely is hilariously funny. The 19th cen-tury is pictured as an era of stifling propriety, but as one without the tyranny of 20th century specialization. Perhaps the best way for me to say what I think of Mr. Fowles' book is to mimic Lawrence Welk — "Wunnerful, wunnerful, wunnerful!" The preceding review was written by Helen C. Beck.

Forgery Cost High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The forgery of state welfare checks during 1969 amounted to $273,-922, State Treasurer John D. Herbert reported Thursday. He said businessmen who cashed the checks suffered the loss, not the state. Herbert said his office had discovered 1,750 welfare checks had been forged last year.

WATCH THE ECLIPSE SAFELY, says the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness with this illustration. Cut a pin-hole in a sheet of white cardboard. With Sun at your back, focus the eclipse through the pinhole on a second cardboard. Size of the image can be changed by altering distance between cardboards. A telescope or binoculars can replace the pinhole cardboard, but you should never view directly. Sun-glasses, smoked glasses or layers of film negatives do not protect eyes from damaging infra-red rays.

The Adult Reading World

Browsers may notice that the library is undergoing some cleaning processes, and also some re-arrangement of books. The staff regrets any inconvenience to patrons, and hope they will be understanding while improvements are being made.

Mrs. Ronald Spence, 424 Holiday Lane, will demonstrate the construction of floss Easter eggs at the regular Friday program next week. She will suggest uses for the eggs as home Easter decorations. They make delightful spring gifts, and those who attend may wish to make several for their friends.

Future speakers at the Friday adult programs include Mrs. Carithers, of the Day Care Center, and Mrs. George Schenck, who will show a film on camping.

New titles now available in the main library and on the bookmobile are "The Innocent Bystander" by James Munro and "The Pushbutton Butterfly" by Kin Platt. "Rosa" by Margery Sharp, is also on the shelves of the main library. New paperbacks on the adult shelves are "Soul on Ice" by Eldridge Cleaver, "The Tragic Era" by Claude G. Bowers, "The Bhagavad Gita" translated by Juan Mascaro, "Fifty Poems" by E. E. Cummings, "The Lost World" by Randall Jarrell, "God's Trombones" by James Weldon Johnson, "The Collected Poems of Archibald MacLeish," and "The Best edited by Langston Hughes.

"The French Lieutenant's Woman" by John Fowles. It is difficult to think of this as fiction — it is so much more. It is entertaining, bewitching, instructive. It is, quite fittingly, on the best seller list.

Mr. Fowles, as narrator, uses a Victorian love triangle as the springboard to compare modes, politics and moral values of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, to analyze poetry and to discuss fictional techniques, to spoof some phase of the nineteenth century, then immediately question twentieth century superiority. There is the mystery and melancholy of Bronte. And there is humor. A visit by the hero to a prostitute after having eaten unwisely is hilariously funny. The 19th century is pictured as an era of stifling propriety, but as one without the tyranny of 20th century specialization. Perhaps the best way for me to say what I think of Mr. Fowles' book is to mimic Lawrence Welk — "Wunnerful, wunnerful, wunnerful!" The preceding review was written by Helen C. Beck.

Forgery Cost High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The forgery of state welfare checks during 1969 amounted to $273,832, State Treasurer John D. Herbert reported Thursday. He said businessmen who cashed the checks suffered the loss, not the state. Herbert said his office had discovered 1,750 welfare checks had been forged last year.

WATCH THE ECLIPSE SAFELY, says the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness with this illustration. Cut a pinhole in a sheet of white cardboard. With Sun at your back, focus the eclipse through the pinhole on a second cardboard. Size of the image can be changed by altering distance between cardboards. A telescope or binoculars can replace the pinhole cardboard, but you should never view directly. Sunglasses, smoked glasses or layers of film negatives do not protect eyes from damaging infra-red rays.

Jesus Calls for Decision

THE ANSWER TO THE GREATEST QUESTION OF HISTORY

Scripture—Matthew 16:13-24.

By R. H. RAMSEY

BETWEEN last Sunday's lesson and this one, an immense amount of time and ministry has passed. Today's lesson falls about half-way through the ministry of Christ.

The time had come for the disciples to begin serious training for the monumental task which awaited them. Accordingly, Jesus gave them power and authority over devils and disease and sent them out in pairs to preach the Gospel and heal the sick.

When they had all returned, Jesus took them to Caesarea Philippi, in northern Palestine, for a period of rest, quiet and private instruction. What happened at Caesarea Philippi was the high point of His instruction.

Where there are people, there is talk. And Jesus was interested in what people were saying about Him; and whom they thought He was.

GOLDEN TEXT

"And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God."—Matthew 16:16.

The disciples replied that some people thought Him to be the reincarnation of John the Baptist or Elijah. Others believed Him to be a great prophet, possibly one of the old prophets returned to earth, but not the Christ.

Probing deeper, Jesus put the question on a personal basis, asking whom the disciples themselves thought He was, for they had been with Him long enough to know—or at least have some idea of who He was. It was a pointblank challenge for the disciples to declare their own faith and clarify their individual positions on the unbelief of the populace.

Perhaps various of the disciples gave their own answers but Peter—as was his habit—spoke for the entire group and only his answer is recorded: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God."

In the face of all the rejection, ridicule, slander and attacks on Jesus and the half-

Welfare Reform Bill Would Help Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio would be relieved of about $31.9 million a year in welfare spending under a sweeping welfare-reform bill approved Thursday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The measure, which now goes to the House floor, would triple the number of families eligible for federal welfare funds, increase payments for the aged, blind and disabled and assure all families of an annual income floor.

Sweeney Split With Ohio Demo Party Widens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gubernatorial candidate Robert E. Sweeney's split with the Democratic Party widened Thursday.

Democratic State Chairman Eugene P. O'Grady said the former congressman acted irresresponsibly in publicly attacking James A. Eldridge, party fund-raiser.

John J. Gilligan, another candidate for governor, said Sweeney made the public charges "at the expense of Eldridge, his wife, the Democratic Party, the entire political system."

Sweeney called Tuesday for Eldridge's resignation, and got it a few hours later, after discussing to newsmen that there was a warrant out in Chicago of Eldridge's arrest on a deceptive practices charge.

Eldridge had held the post for two months and was living in Chillicothe.

O'Grady said he obtained Eldridge's resignation shortly after receiving from Sweeney "police court records about Mr. Eldridge, information which was totally new to me."

Had Sweeney acted "responsibly" by presenting the records to him privately, O'Grady said, he would have taken the same action, "but under far less damaging circumstances."

"Despite this occurrence, I have confidence that the countless Ohio Democrats who want a responsible, constructive party will prevail over those who would destroy it," O'Grady said.

O'Grady said he alone was responsible for the hiring of Eldridge. Sweeney had implied at his news conference that Gilligan had a hand in the appointment.

Gilligan criticized Sweeney during an appearance at the 10th Congressional Democratic Club rally in Nelsonville.

Also appearing at the rally were Cuyahoga County Recorder Mark McElroy, another candidate for governor, and Howard Metzbaum of Cleveland, who seek the party's senatorial nomination.

McElroy called for tighter laws to ensure that strip mining and pollution don't destroy Ohio's recreation areas. Metzbaum said Democrats should form a "truth corps" to give national exposure to President Nixon's credibility gap. He said party leaders have been mesmerized by Nixon's flowery words and act as if Nixon controls Congress.

Earlier Thursday, Metzbaum announced the appointment of Harold S. Stern, a Cleveland lawyer, as his state campaign director. Stern managed retiring Sen. Stephen M. Young's northern Ohio office from 1959-65.

Meanwhile State Auditor Roger Cloud, Republican candidate for governor, announced Thursday his support of legislative efforts to offer a constitutional amendment for a home-leave exemption for citizens over 65 years of age.

He noted that Ohio voters rejected a similar amendment in 1968, but said the new proposal overcomes objections cited at that time by limiting property tax relief to those over 65.

Cloud also said if he is elected governor he will give top priority to stopping narcotics traffic, particularly among children.

Special Interest Bill Good One?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's a special interest bill pending in the Ohio Senate that Minority Leader Charles J. Carney is proud to sponsor.

It would enable the widow of a popular Campbell school superintendent to draw $760 a month under her late husband's state retirement benefits.

As it now stands, she is entitled to only $106 a month because he died eight months, 10 days before reaching the age of 55.

Nicholas A. D'Amato, who began teaching at age 19, would also have made his wife eligible for the extra benefits if he had lived out his 35th year in the teaching profession.

Carney has authored a special bill to see that Mrs. Magdalene

J. D'Amato gets the full amount she would have received if he had lived 111 days longer.

Carney said such a situation would probably never come up again. It's unusual for a teacher to have more than 34 years of service in by the age of 54. D'Amato's age at the time of death June 18, 1969.

D'Amato had $15,442 of his own money in the fund at the time of his death, Carney said. The employer contribution, which Mrs. D'Amato would not presently be able to draw, totaled $22,142.

The bill is given a good chance of passage, Mrs. D'Amato would draw the $760 a month for life or until the time she should remarry.

Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-

11 Toledo, is one of the General Assembly's most unhappy members. She doesn't think things move fast enough.

"This entire session has been a charade," she told the Senate Ways and Means Committee.

The committee, at the time, was considering a code of ethics bill for legislators and government employees. The bill passed the House last year.

Majority leaders in the Senate believe it stands a good chance of passage but Miss Valiquette obviously isn't talking to them.

"No one thinks it has a chance of passage anyway," she snapped.

It's a sure sign of the political season when you see a news story about an incumbent officeholder using public money to mail his campaign releases.

Rep. Robert Taft Jr., a Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate nomination, was the latest to pull the almost annual boo boo.

He used his free mailing privileges to mail out campaign material to the news media. A human mistake, his office said.

Auditor Roger Cloud, a Republican candidate for governor, has twice this year used state facilities for mailing campaign releases.

Jesus Calls for Decision

THE ANSWER TO THE GREATEST QUESTION OF HISTORY

Scripture—Matthew 16:13-24.

By R. H. RAMSEY

BETWEEN last Sunday's lesson and this one, an immense amount of time and ministry has passed. Today's lesson falls about half-way through the ministry of Christ.

The time had come for the disciples to begin serious training for the monumental task which awaited them. Accordingly, Jesus gave them power and authority over devils and disease and sent them out in pairs to preach the Gospel and heal the sick.

When they had all returned, Jesus took them to Caesarea Philippi, in northern Palestine, for a period of rest, quiet and private instruction. What happened at Caesarea Philippi was the high point of His instruction.

Where there are people, there is talk. And Jesus was interested in what people were saying about Him; and whom they thought He was.

heated tributes that revealed the self-centeredness of the multitudes and amounted to rejection. Peter's answer boldly and clearly summed up the basic position of the Christian gospel. Jesus was more than a man, more than a prophet. Jesus was Christ, the Son of God.

The summoning of heaven's blessing upon Peter for his fidelity is the only instance in all the Gospels where our Lord specifically calls an individual "blessed." Peter's opinion was not that of other men, nor had he received it from them. It was the Father who had revealed the truth of Christ's Sonship to Peter.

With the disciples convinced of Christ's deity, Jesus turns to the future. He will build a church upon the "rock" of the truth confessed by Peter. That Peter would be assigned a place in the foundation of the church is indisputable, for in the New Testament epistles we are told

"And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God."—Matthew 16:16.

The disciples replied that some people thought Him to be the reincarnation of John the Baptist or Elijah. Others believed Him to be a great prophet, possibly one of the old prophets returned to earth, but not the Christ.

Probing deeper, Jesus put the question on a personal basis, asking whom the disciples themselves thought He was, for they had been with Him long enough to know—or at least have some idea of who He was. It was a pointblank challenge for the disciples to declare their own faith and clarify their individual positions on the unbelief of the populace.

Perhaps various of the disciples gave their own answers but Peter—as was his habit—spoke for the entire group and only his answer is recorded: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God."

In the face of all the rejection, ridicule, slander and attacks on Jesus and the half-that the church was built upon the apostles and prophets, with Christ Himself as the chief cornerstone.

To this end Jesus gave the "keys of the kingdom" to the disciples, the Gospel of salvation through Jesus Christ through which men gain admittance to the kingdom. When men accept the gospel their sins are loosed or forgiven. When they reject God's offer of pardon, their sins are fastened upon them.

After charging the disciples to remain silent regarding His deity, Jesus began talking about His coming death. When Peter attempted to silence Jesus' talk about death, he was severely rebuked.

Instead of agreeing with Peter that sacrifice was nonessential and the cross being something He must not endure, Jesus said all must give up an ambitious, self-seeking, acquisitive life in order to find another life in the highest and eternal realization.

Welfare Reform Bill Would Help Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio would be relieved of about $31.9 million a year in welfare spending under a sweeping welfare-reform bill approved Thursday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The measure, which now goes to the House floor, would triple the number of families eligible for federal welfare funds, increase payments for the aged, blind and disabled and assure all families of an annual income floor.

Sweeney Split With Ohio Demo Party Widens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gubernatorial candidate Robert E. Sweeney's split with the Democratic Party widened Thursday.

Democratic State Chairman Eugene P. O'Grady said the former congressman acted irresponsibly in publicly attacking James A. Eldridge, party fund-raiser.

John J. Gilligan, another candidate for governor, said Sweeney made the public charges "at the expense of Eldridge, his wife, the Democratic Party, the entire political system."

Sweeney called Tuesday for Eldridge's resignation, and got it a few hours later, after disclosing to newsmen that there was a warrant out in Chicago of Eldridge's arrest on a deceptive practices charge.

Eldridge had held the post for two months and was living in Chillicothe. O'Grady said he obtained Eldridge's resignation shortly after receiving from Sweeney "police court records about Mr. Eldridge, information which was totally new to me."

Had Sweeney acted "responsibly" by presenting the records to him privately, O'Grady said, he would have taken the same action, "but under far less damaging circumstances."

Despite this occurrence, I have confidence that the countless Ohio Democrats who want a responsible, constructive party will prevail over those who would destroy it," O'Grady said.

O'Grady said he alone was responsible for the hiring of Eldridge. Sweeney had implied at his news conference that Gilligan had a hand in the appointment.

Gilligan criticized Sweeney during an appearance at the 10th Congressional Democratic Club rally in Nelsonville.

Also appearing at the rally were Cuyahoga County Recorder Mark McElroy, another candidate for governor, and Howard Metzbaum of Cleveland, who seek the party's senatorial nomination.

One of the women teachers who made the trip this week wore a large ring bearing the peace symbol.

"I have 172 young minds I can control," she frankly told a newsmen.

Earlier Thursday, Metzbaum announced the appointment of Harold S. Stern, a Cleveland lawyer, as his state campaign director. Stern managed retiring Sen. Stephen M. Young's northern Ohio office from 1959-65.

Meanwhile State Auditor Roger Cloud, Republican candidate for governor, announced Thursday his support of legislative efforts to offer a constitutional amendment for a constitutional exemption for citizens over 65 years of age.

Pickaway Grange Report

SALT CREEK GRANGE
Mrs. Paul Dawson and Paul Dunkle, Ohio State Grange Deputies, were present for Annual Inspection at the March 3 meeting of Saltcreek Valley Grange 2314, with Francis Fraunfelter, the master, presiding.

A special program inclusion was the presentation of the Second degree with the following members assuming lead responsibilities: Orley Judy, master; Francis Fraunfelter, overseer; Don DeLong, assistant steward; Hoyt Timmons, steward; Mrs. Judson Beougher, lady assistant steward; Fred DeLong, gatekeeper; Mrs. Raymond Hedges, secretary; Mrs. Robert Collins, lecturer; Mrs. Grace Anderson, chaplain; Mrs. Fred DeLong, flora; Mrs. Randolph Wolfe-Ceres; and Mrs. Hoyt Timmons, pomona. The proxy initiates were Mrs. Don Minor and Carl Dean Jr. Joyce DeLong was the pianist.

Women's service director, Mrs. Fred DeLong, expressed appreciation for help and urged preparation for participation in the home economics contests.

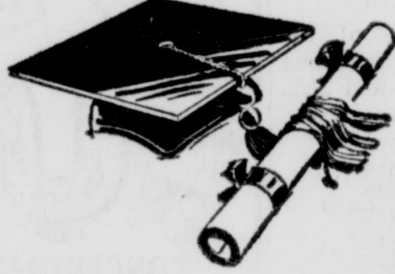

The date arranged for Saltcreek Subordinate contest is April 21. Members were reminded of service for Blood Bank Canteen in June.

A thank you note was read from Mrs. Orley Judy for gifts and communications received while in the hospital.

Dunkle reviewed the prescribed procedures for conducting Grange sessions and explained how he and Mrs. Dawson had measured for the inspection score.

Mrs. Dawson commended the members for many jobs well done, announced that Mrs. Beougher was an entry in the National Home Economics Contest, and urged attendance for the March 7 County Wide Assembly at the Grange Building, starting with a 6:30 co-operative dinner.

The concluding program feature was social fellowship during which community interests and responsibilities were shared and compared. Refreshments were served by members of the Hospitality Committee—Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. Minor, Fred DeLong, Virgil Timmons, and Leora Sayre.

Jimmy weighs a full ten pounds only when he's full of formula. But to his daddy, he's the weight of the whole world when its time for that 2 A.M. feeding. What a chore it is, but it allows plenty of time for thinking:

What kind of man will Jimmy grow up to be?
What kind of father will I be to him? How can I keep him from following the wrong crowd? How can I help him to value the worthwhile things? How can I give him a solid foundation for life?

The responsibility that parenthood places on people is a heavy weight. A sensible man can't take it lightly. But the Church can help him bear it wisely. In church he will discover those enduring values, something against which to measure his own standards—and, as he finds these things for himself, he will pass them on to his son.

The church can't rear your children for you, but it can help you as you do the job. It's a champion weight-lifter.

Pickaway Grange Report

SALT CREEK GRANGE
Mrs. Paul Dawson and Paul Dunkle, Ohio State Grange Deputies, were present for Annual Inspection at the March 3 meeting of Saltcreek Valley Grange 2314, with Francis Fraunfelter, the master, presiding.

A special program inclusion was the presentation of the Second degree with the following members assuming lead responsibilities: Orley Judy, master; Francis Fraunfelter, overseer; Don DeLong, assistant steward; Hoyt Timmons, steward; Mrs. Judson Beougher, lady assistant steward; Virgil Timmons, gatekeeper; Fred DeLong, treasurer; Mrs. Raymond Hedges, secretary; Mrs. Robert Collins, lecturer; Mrs. Grace Anderson, chaplain; Mrs. Fred DeLong, flora; Mrs. Randolph Wolfe-Ceres; and Mrs. Hoyt Timmons, pomona. The proxy initiates were Mrs. Don Minor and Carl Dean Jr. Joyce DeLong was the pianist.

Women's service director, Mrs. Fred DeLong, expressed appreciation for help and urged preparation for participation in the home economics contests.

The date arranged for Saltcreek Subordinate contest is April 21. Members were reminded of service for Blood Bank Canteen in June.

A thank you note was read from Mrs. Orley Judy for gifts and communications received while in the hospital.

Dunkle reviewed the prescribed procedures for conducting Grange sessions and explained how he and Mrs. Dawson had measured for the inspection score.

Mrs. Dawson commended the members for many jobs well done, announced that Mrs. Beougher was an entry in the National Home Economics Contest, and urged attendance for the March 7 County Wide Assembly at the Grange Building, starting with a 6:30 co-operative dinner.

The concluding program feature was social fellowship during which community interests and responsibilities were shared and compared. Refreshments were served by members of the Hospitality Committee—Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. Minor, Fred DeLong, Virgil Timmons, and Leora Sayre.

Jimmy weighs a full ten pounds only when he's full of formula. But to his daddy, he's the weight of the whole world when its time for that 2 A.M. feeding. What a chore it is, but it allows plenty of time for thinking:

What kind of man will Jimmy grow up to be? What kind of father will I be to him? How can I keep him from following the wrong crowd? How can I help him to value the worthwhile things? How can I give him a solid foundation for life?

The responsibility that parenthood places on people is a heavy weight. A sensible man can't take it lightly. But the Church can help him bear it wisely. In church he will discover these enduring values, something against which to measure his own standards—and, as he finds these things for himself, he will pass them on to his son.

The church can't rear your children for you, but it can help you as you do the job. It's a champion weight-lifter.

Plane Crash Fatal To 4 From Ohio

JELICO, Tenn. (AP)—Four Ohio men were killed Thursday when their single-engine Cessna airplane crashed and burned in thick fog atop the Cumberland Mountains near here.

Authorities and relatives contacted by telephone identified the victims as Paul Royce, about 50, the pilot; Gene Caplinger, about 45, both of Greenfield, Ohio; and Thye DeYoung and Red Stewart, both of Middletown, Ohio.

Friends said the four left the airport at Washington Court House about noon Thursday and were headed for Florida on a fishing trip.

Officers said Mrs. Dora Douglas, who lives near the crash site close to the Kentucky-Tennessee border, "called in to say she saw the plane hit a tree and crash."

Patrolman Howard Moon said the aircraft "was headed south and apparently was following Interstate 75."

Mrs. Douglas said her son, Randy, 21, went to the crash scene. "Randy heard the plane as it passed our house," she said. "The pilot raced the engine just before the crash. It was foggy in the mountains and the pilot apparently did not see the trees until just before the crash and tried to pull up."

OEO Ends Recreation Outlays

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal antipoverty agency won't send money to the nation's cities this summer for crash recreational programs designed to cool the ghettos and prevent riots.

Instead, the Office of Economic Opportunity will concentrate on year-round economic development projects for people 14 to 25.

Immunity Hearings Set

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Some of the witnesses who refused to testify this week before a federal grand jury investigating organized crime will be given immunity hearings Monday by U.S. District Court Judge James C. Connell.

The witnesses will be promised immunity from prosecution if they answer the questions. If they still refuse to answer they may be cited for contempt of court.

Most of the 50 witnesses questioned about an alleged multi-million dollar interstate gambling ring refused to answer on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

The special grand jury called about 10 witnesses Thursday when recessed until Monday.

The jury was impaneled as an investigative arm of the U.S. Justice Department's organized crime strike force here.

In the wake of burning cities four and a half years ago, the federal government announced with great fanfare it would give money to cities for swimming pools, basketball leagues, block parties and other recreational programs to occupy young people.

But now the OEO has concluded the summer crash programs don't work.

The OEO said it changed its guidelines because evaluation and inspection reports "concluded that youth programs which are geared to meeting summer crisis periods, and which emphasize leisure time activities only, are not relevant to either the immediate or long-term needs of poor youth."

It said older youngsters were only peripherally interested in programs devoted exclusively to recreation and other leisure time activities, saw little in guidelines to all local antipoverty agencies, which went into effect Thursday, the OEO says it will fund only year-round youth development projects and "programs devoted exclusively to recreation, camping, cultural enrichment and other leisure-time activities will not be funded."

The agency will spend $35 million on the youth development programs, the same amount allotted each summer since 1966 on leisure-time activities.

The overall goals of the youth programs, under the new guidelines, are to offer youth experience which will:

— "Provide poor youth with a formal voice in planning and implementing programs in which youth increase their ability to deal with problems affecting their lives.

— "Through collective social action, especially on behalf of their own community or neighborhood, bring about positive changes in their values, aspirations and behavior.

— "Prepare youth to deal more effectively with the institutions designed to serve them, and by speaking together, to become instrumental in not only expressing their needs to those institutions but also in being able to orderly change them in order to improve the quality of life in their neighborhoods."

Cold Air Brings Snow To Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colder weather dipped into the Midwest today and triggered a scattering of snow and light rain from the Rockies to the Great Lakes.

Heavy snow warnings remained in effect for mountain areas of southern New Mexico and central Arizona for a second day.

Snowfall generally was light in the Midwest, however. One-inch overnight accumulations whitened portions of Wisconsin and Minnesota and ranged into upper Michigan. Flurries swirled across the eastern Great Lakes.

Scattered showers dampened the Central Plains and parts of the Midwest. Thunder-showers rumbled over west Texas and adjacent sections of New Mexico.

Light rain also fell in the Pacific Northwest and in some areas of the Northeast.

Zero cold slipped into the Northern Plains, but temperatures elsewhere in the nation's mid section were only moderately crisp for early March.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from -14 at Grand Forks, N.D., to 72 at Key West, Fla.

Ex-Civil Service Officers Fined; Tests Destroyed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two former officers of the Cleveland Civil Service Commission were fined $600 each Thursday by Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Joseph Nahra for destroying Cleveland police examination papers.

The judge suspended jail terms of six months each for Jay B. White, former commission president, and ex-secretary Charles L. Butts.

The two pleaded guilty Feb. 25 to destroying 940 answer and identification sheets of the Dec. 21, 1968, police promotion examination. Charges of perjury against them were dropped at the recommendation of the prosecution.

A county grand jury investigating alleged mishandling of police exams by the commission indicted White and Butts last June. The investigation began after a policeman revealed that he had a copy of one exam before it was given.

Plane Crash Fatal To 4 From Ohio

JELLICO, Tenn. (AP)—Four Ohio men were killed Thursday when their single-engine Cessna airplane crashed and burned in thick fog atop the Cumberland Mountains near here.

Authorities and relatives contacted by telephone identified the victims as Paul Royse, about 50, the pilot; Gene Caplinger, about 45, both of Greenfield, Ohio; and Thye DeYoung and Red Stewart, both of Middle-town, Ohio.

Friends said the four left the airport at Washington Court House about noon Thursday and were headed for Florida on a fishing trip.

Officers said Mrs. Dora Douglas, who lives near the crash site close to the Kentucky-Tennessee border, "called in to say she saw the plane hit a tree and crash."

Patrolman Howard Moon said the aircraft "was headed south and apparently was following Interstate 75."

Mrs. Douglas said her son, Randy, 21, went to the crash scene. "Randy heard the plane as it passed our house," she said. "The pilot raced the engine just before the crash. It was foggy in the mountains and the pilot apparently did not see the trees until just before the crash and tried to pull up."

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Kiser and family spent the weekend with their kin folk in Grayson, Kentucky.

John Karr, Paul Horn and Lincoln Ricketts flew to Naples, Fla., to spend a week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tatman. While deep sea fishing, John won a prize for catching the largest fish, a 16 pounder.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hartranft were hosts at a family dinner on Sunday in honor of Roger Hartranft's birthday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hartranft, Dawn Renee and Johnny, Mrs. Mabel Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Orman Hartranft, Cheryl and Mindy, Mr. and Mrs. Thad Carper and Craig and Mrs. Hazel Hartranft.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Turvey were Monday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Turvey. Sr. Keith has been transferred to New York, and he and Pat were to leave on Tuesday for Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fry and Elaine enjoyed Sunday dinner at a Lancaster restaurant.

OEO Ends Recreation Outlays

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal antipoverty agency won't send money to the nation's cities this summer for crash recreational programs designed to cool the ghettos and prevent riots.

Instead, the Office of Economic Opportunity will concentrate on year-round economic development projects for people 14 to 25.

Immunity Hearings Set

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Some of the witnesses who refused to testify this week before a federal grand jury investigating organized crime will be given immunity hearings Monday by U.S. District Court Judge James C. Connell.

The witnesses will be promised immunity from prosecution if they answer the questions. If they still refuse to answer they may be cited for contempt of court.

Most of the 50 witnesses questioned about an alleged multi-million dollar interstate gambling ring refused to answer on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

The special grand jury called about 10 witnesses Thursday and recessed until Monday.

The jury was impaneled as an investigative arm of the U.S. Justice Department's organized crime strike force here.

But now the OEO has concluded the summer crash programs don't work.

The OEO said it changed its guidelines because evaluation and inspection reports "concluded that youth programs which are geared to meeting summer crisis periods, and which emphasize leisure time activities only, are not relevant to either the immediate or long-term needs of poor youth."

It said older youngsters were only peripherally interested in programs devoted exclusively to recreation and other leisure time activities, saw little in guidelines to all local antipoverty agencies, which went into effect Thursday, the OEO says it will fund only year-round youth development projects and "programs devoted exclusively to recreation, camping, cultural enrichment and other leisure-time activities will not be funded."

The agency will spend $35 million on the youth development programs, the same amount allotted each summer since 1966 on leisure-time activities.

programs, under the new guidelines, are to offer youth experience which will:

—"Provide poor youth with a formal voice in planning and implementing programs in which youth increase their ability to deal with problems affecting their lives."

—"Through collective social action, especially on behalf of their own community or neighborhood, bring about positive changes in their values, aspirations and behavior."

Cold Air Brings Snow To Nation

Colder weather dipped into the Midwest today and triggered a scattering of snow and light rain from the Rockies to the Great Lakes.

Heavy-snow warnings remained in effect for mountain areas of southern New Mexico and central Arizona for a second day.

Snowfall generally was light in the Midwest, however. One-inch overnight accumulations whitened portions of Wisconsin and Minnesota and ranged into upper Michigan. Flurries swirled across the eastern Great Lakes.

Scattered showers dampened the Central Plains and parts of the Midwest. Thunder-showers rumbled over west Texas and adjacent sections of New Mexico.

Light rain also fell in the Pacific Northwest and in some areas of the Northeast.

Zero cold slipped into the Northern Plains, but temperatures elsewhere in the nation's mid section were only moderately crisp for early March.

By PATTY ARLEDGE and JUDY BROCK

Mrs. Lois Brobst, the teacher of the week, resides at 1139 Atwater Ave. She has lived there for approximately 29 years.

Originally from the Hoosier state, Mrs. Brobst attended Indiana State Teachers College, in Terre Haute, now known as Indiana State University. During college she was in the Commercial Club for four years and treasurer of Delta Sigma Sorority her senior year. She was graduated with a BS degree in education.

Before coming to CHS, Mrs. Brobst taught at schools in Washington Township, Williamsport, Ashville and Monroe.

At CHS, Mrs. Brobst teaches typing 1, shorthand 1 and 2, office practice and personal typing.

Mrs. Brobst is also kept very busy outside her school life. She is a member of the Trinity Lutheran Church, where she taught Sunday School for 15 years. She is secretary of her church circle, a charter member of Beta Rho Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, a National Honor Society of Women Teachers. She has two knitting classes which meet in her home, and is senior SOS adviser at CHS. In addition, she works at Sharff's, as a sales clerk.

Mrs. Brobst has three children: Nancy, (Mrs. William Gibson), who lives in Grove City and is executive secretary to the administrative head of Mt. Watson, Rossiter Are DECA Seniors For The Week

BETTY WATSON

STEVE ROSSITER

By VICKI RALSTON and RICK WITHERS

Red and Black are again honoring two Distributive Education seniors. They are Betty Watson and Steve Rossiter.

Betty, who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Alexander, 227 N. Scioto St., has also been active in choir and DECA I. She works for the First National Bank and does general office work.

"DECA is the greatest thing that has ever happened to me. It has given me a great opportunity for training for when I go into the business world," she commented. Betty plans to attend business college after graduation.

Steve Rossiter resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rossiter, 952 S. Pickaway St.

A member of DECA for two years, Steve comments, "It is fun but hard work goes with it. The club is a good one to get into just for the experience of it."

His hobbies include hunting fishing and going to "littles" house.

What do you do in your spare time? he was asked. "Work." Steve is also active in the CHS band and Davis Demons. He is currently employed at Mason Furniture Store.

Seniors have 54 days left until graduation.

Seniors get with it! Pay your class dues!

First sopranos, can't you control yourself in choir?

John Myers has received word that he has been selected as a freshman honor scholar at Ohio State University. This means that John will receive special housing and library facilities while attending OSU. Congratulations, John!

The Circleville faculty now has a record of two wins and one loss for the season.

The Stooze Club's Universal Gym Machine was due to arrive sometime this week.

Girls' physical education classes are learning to play badminton and ping pong this six weeks.

No sooner is one edition of the annual "put to bed" than the underclass members of the staff start to take pictures for the 1971 issue.

It seems that Sally Hart has found a new friend, a playful little puppy.

Where Were You Five Years Ago?

By KATHY GOEGLEIN and RANDY HALLEY

This week the Red and Black roving reporters were thinking about past years and experiences and they came up with this question, "What were you doing five years ago?"

Greg White — "I was hanging Tom Wickerham and Dave Winks out the windows at the CHS from the second floor!"

Kathi Oros — "I was listening to my fifth grade teacher, Mr. Hug."

John Demjen — "Flying paper airplanes out of the windows in study hall."

Martha Moore — "Our fifth grade class went to Mound City and visited the Indians in their graves."

Rick Norris — "I broke my seat off in Mr. Ater's class and I was in love with Pam!"

Christy Dresbach — "I was playing the swing game at Nicholas Drive School. Does anyone remember the hipopotamus?"

Jan Bingman — "My eighth grade year turned me against yellow M & M's."

Kenny Keller — "Standing up in Mr. Dawson's study hall."

Pam Crabtree — "I moved to Circleville."

Ruth Good — "I was getting ready for the spelling contest in eighth grade."

Mark Frericks — "It was the anniversary of my 109th butch haircut."

Karen Ried — "I went to England and Scotland."

Mike Henderson — "Sitting in school doing nothing."

Mark Ebert — "Growing."

Barb Schuer — "Watching crayons melt in the sun."

Donna Smallwood — "Couldn't wait to be a teenager."

Jan Clifton — "I was down at the junior high thinking it was neat that we could go to school with the high school kids."

Jeanie Lovelace — "Waiting to live my life with the upper classmen."

Barbara Carter — "Still counting my fingers and toes."

Dennis Jackson — "Wishing I was out of school."

Craig Allison — "Starting sixth grade and wondering what was happening."

Brenda DeLong — "Trying to recuperate from the fifth grade."

Good luck to the wrestlers in their sectional tournament.

Has every senior signed up for the committee that he would like to serve on for the senior class play?

Generally speaking the majority of the students and the faculty are getting tired of the "graffiti" that has recently broken out at CHS.

Seniors have 54 days left until graduation.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Advice Sought On Plastic Surgery

DEAR ABBY: I am 48 years old and I look like 18—from the neck down. I started to show my age about 10 years ago, and now I get so discouraged every time I look in a mirror. My skin looks so OLD!

I am happily married to a very handsome man of 50, but he looks much younger, and I am afraid one of these days somebody is going to take me for his mother!

I've been thinking about plastic surgery. Is it dangerous? Is it painful? How long will a face-lifting last? (I've heard that that operation has to be repeated every 6 or 7 years.) How expensive is it? I really wouldn't mind the pain or the expense if the results satisfied me.

Don't tell me to grow old "gracefully." No woman wants to look old when she can look younger. Please tell me the truth about face-lifting.

DEAR "PRUNE FACE": The most obvious "truth" about face-lifting is that no reputable plastic surgeon can guarantee a patient that she will be satisfied with the results which can range all the way from "Why didn't I leave well enough alone?" to "Why didn't I do this sooner?"

Your best source of information is a plastic surgeon. If you don't know a good one, ask your family physician to refer you. But a word of warning, don't do it without your husband's knowledge and consent. He just may like "prunes."

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have lived in this apartment building for 30 years, and all of a sudden my husband decides to buy the building.

Now I'm "the landlady" to all my old friends, so every time something goes wrong with something in their apartment, they call me and nag me about it.

When my husband comes home, I pass on all the complaints to him and he gets mad at me. He tells me I should tell the tenants to come to him with their complaints.

I tried that but it doesn't work. The complainers still call me and give me their beefs. If I say, "Call my husband and tell him about it," they say, "Why should I? I just told you, YOU tell him."

So, Dear Abby, I can't win. What should I do?

DEAR LANDLADY: If a tenant calls you with a "beef," — don't listen. Say, "Hold it—just give me your name and telephone number, and I'll have the boss call you."

when he comes home."

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who would move out of his home and into a motel for a whole week while his sisters are visiting him, to prevent them from knowing that he is married and has a two-year-old son?

That is what my husband did. We have been married for three years, and he never told his family that he was married—just that he was moving to another state. You see, he is Catholic and divorced, and he feels that his family would not understand.

Don't you think it's time his family knew about us? His parents do not even know they have a grandchild! Print this with your answer as he reads your column faithfully.

HEARTSICK IN L. A.

DEAR HEARTSICK: Yes, I think it's time. Tell him to grow up, or his son will become a man before HE does.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that barbers and beauticians who own their own shops feel that accepting a tip from a customer is beneath them, and if one is offered they are insulted. I can't see why. If they perform a personal service, why should they feel that way? It sort of puts down the people in the shop who work for them. Or am I wrong?

BEVERLY HILLS

DEAR BEVERLY: Some do and some don't. The best way to determine which is which is to make the offer. If this is the greatest "insult" one ever has to suffer, he's lucky.

Premiere Showing

Of A Mis-Cast Whale

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Casting his line off a local beach one night, angler Amod Boxer caught what he thought was a whale. He couldn't believe his eyes when he saw the 9 feet long marine mammal flopping through the surf at the end of his line, but he had no trouble landing it as it was in a weakened state. He nursed it during the rest of the night by pouring buckets of water on its back. Next morning he telephoned the local aquarium and curator John Ballard sent a truck to fetch it. "It is certainly the first time we have had a whale on display," Ballard said as he eyed his new acquisition—christened "Sammy"—languidly swimming around his fish tank. Later the "whale" was identified as a rare Risso's dolphin, believed the only one in captivity.

But five days later it died, despite injections and forced feeding—apparently from the illness that had first weakened it.

We hope that the Senior Class play, "Dark of the Moon," is as well "casted" as some of the students at CHS.

Good luck to the wrestlers in their sectional tournament.

Has every senior signed up for the committee that he would like to serve on for the senior class play?

Generally speaking the majority of the students and the faculty are getting tired of the "graffiti" that has recently broken out at CHS.

Seniors have 54 days left until graduation.

Seniors get with it! Pay your class dues!

First sopranos, can't you control yourself in choir?

John Myers has received word that he has been selected as a freshman honor scholar at Ohio State University. This means that John will receive special housing and library facilities while attending OSU. Congratulations, John!

The Circleville faculty now has a record of two wins and one loss for the season.

The Stooze Club's Universal Gym Machine was due to arrive sometime this week.

Girls' physical education classes are learning to play badminton and ping pong this six weeks.

No sooner is one edition of the annual "put to bed" than the underclass members of the staff start to take pictures for the 1971 issue.

CHS Grapplers Show Promise For '71 Varsity Competition

CHRIS LONG

JERRY HUSTON

By CRAIG DRESBACH
This week journalism class is introducing the last two wrestlers, Chris Long and Jerry Huston.

Chris Long resides at 224 Third Ave., with his mother, Mrs. Daisy Long and sister, Marsha. Gaining some experience by wrestling in one varsity match this year, he should be a starter on the squad next year. Quick hands and aggressiveness will aid him in a good season. Chris is a member of Stooze and attends the Lutheran Church.

Jerry Huston resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Huston and brother, Terry. Experience will be Huston's key to success next year. He is a member of Hi-Y and enjoys all sports. When asked how he felt about this year's team, he commented, "Team spirit and a great coach were the biggest factors in having a winning season."

Looking Back At CHS

Circleville city council president, Joe Bell, was listed in the '35 annual "as a favorite with the greenhouse gals" as a senior. In his class will be left his "royal chariot" to any freshman that needed a girlfriend.

Local auto dealer, Ned Harden, was a delegate to the senior Hi-Y Older Boys Conference as a junior. He was also director of the Junior Class play, "Take My Advice."

Red and Black was edited under the direction of Elizabeth Dowden in '35. The paper was issued every Saturday in The Herald and averaged about three columns per week.

Circleville's basketball team lost their first Class "A" tournament game with South High School by the new sudden death overtime method by two counts, 34-32. John Jenkins, then a junior, was named first string guard on the All Central Buckeye League team.

In 1935, the CHS golfer carried off the Central Buckeye League championship "with a score that was the lowest ever recorded in the matches." Team champs included Lee Cook, E. Hill, Robert Friece, John Jenkins and Joe Jenkins.

Lipko Sisters Return To CHS

Journalism class is featuring Joan and Diane Lipko as the new students of the week. The new sophomores from Catasauqua, Pa., reside at Route 188 with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lipko.

Although the girls have attended CHS only a short time they are not totally new to the school system because the Lipkos are former residents of Circleville.

JOAN LIPKO

Joan is enrolled in the college prep course while Diane prefers business. When asked their opinion of CHS both girls stated that they liked it very much.

DIANE LIPKO

While in Catasauqua they attended Catasauqua High School where Joan was elected sub-prom chairman. She lists reading and listening to the radio as her hobbies while Diane enjoys records and horseback riding. Both girls attend the First Baptist Church.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Advice Sought On Plastic Surgery

DEAR ABBY: I am 48 years old and I look like 18—from the neck down. I started to show my age about 10 years ago, and now I get so discouraged every time I look in a mirror. My skin looks so OLD!

I am happily married to a very handsome man of 50, but he looks much younger, and I am afraid one of these days somebody is going to take me for his mother!

I've been thinking about plastic surgery. Is it dangerous? Is it painful? How long will a face-lifting last? (I've heard that that operation has to be repeated every 6 or 7 years.) How expensive is it? I really wouldn't mind the pain or the expense if the results satisfied me.

Don't tell me to grow old "gracefully." No woman wants to look old when she can look younger. Please tell me the truth about face-lifting.

"PRUNE FACE"
DEAR "PRUNE": The most obvious "truth" about face-lifting is that no reputable plastic surgeon can guarantee a patient that she will be satisfied with the results which can range all the way from "Why didn't I leave well enough alone?" to "Why didn't I do this sooner?"

Your best source of information is a plastic surgeon. If you don't know a good one, ask your family physician to refer you. But a word of warning, don't do it without your husband's knowledge and consent. He just may like "prunes."

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have lived in this apartment building for 30 years, and all of a sudden my husband decides to buy the building.

Now I'm "the landlady" to all my old friends, so every time something goes wrong with something in their apartment, they call me and nag me about it.

When my husband comes home, I pass on all the complaints to him and he gets mad at me. He tells me I should tell the tenants to come to him with their complaints.

I tried that but it doesn't work. The complainers still call me and give me their beefs. If I say, "Call my husband and tell him about it," they say, "Why should I? I just told you. YOU tell him."

So, Dear Abby, I can't win. What should I do?

"THE LANDLADY"
DEAR LANDLADY: If a tenant calls you with a "beef," — don't listen. Say, "Hold it—just give me your name and telephone number, and I'll have the boss call you."

when he comes home."
DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who would move out of his home and into a motel for a whole week while his sisters are visiting him, to prevent them from knowing that he is married and has a two-year-old son?

That is what my husband did. We have been married for three years, and he never told his family that he was married—just that he was moving to another state. You see, he is Catholic and divorced, and he feels that his family would not understand.

Don't you think it's time his family knew about us? His parents do not even know they have a grandchild! Print this with your answer as he reads your column faithfully.

HEARTSICK IN L. A.
DEAR HEARTSICK: Yes, I think it's time. Tell him to grow up, or his son will become a man before HE does.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that barbers and beauticians who own their own shops feel that accepting a tip from a customer is beneath them, and if one is offered they are insulted. I can't see why. If they perform a personal service, why should they feel that way? It sort of puts down the people in the shop who work for them. Or am I wrong?

BEVERLY HILLS

DEAR BEVERLY: Some do and some don't. The best way to determine which is which is to make the offer. If this is the greatest "insult" one ever has to suffer, he's lucky.

Premiere Showing Of A Mis-Cast Whale

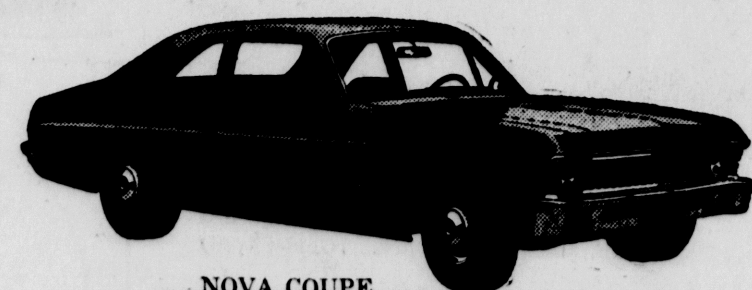

D U R B A N , South Africa (AP)—Casting his line off a local beach one night, angler Amod Boxer caught what he thought was a whale. He couldn't believe his eyes when he saw the 9 feet long marine mammal flopping through the surf at the end of his line, but he had no trouble landing it as it was in a weakened state. He nursed it through the rest of the night by pouring buckets of water on its back. Next morning he telephoned the local aquarium and curator John Ballard sent a truck to fetch it. "It is certainly the first time we have had a whale on display," Ballard said as he eyed his new acquisition—christened "Sammy"—languidly swimming around his fish tank. Later the "whale" was identified as a rare Risso's dolphin, believed the only one in captivity.

But five days later it died, despite injections and forced feeding—apparently from the illness that had first weakened it.

Betty, who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Alexander, 227 N. Scioto St., has also been active in choir and DECA I. She works for the First National Bank and does general office work.

"DECA is the greatest thing that has ever happened to me. It has given me a great opportunity for training for when I go into the business world," she commented. Betty plans to attend business college after graduation.

Steve Rossiter resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rossiter, 952 S. Pickaway St.

A member of DECA for two years, Steve comments, "It is fun but hard work goes with it. The club is a good one to get into just for the experience of it."

His hobbies include hunting fishing and going to "titties" house.

What do you do in your spare time? he was asked. "Work." Steve is also active in the CHS band and Davis Demons. He is currently employed at Mason Furniture Store.

Keener Picked Honored CHS Trackman

BILL KEENER

By MARCIA PONTIUS

This week the CHS journalism class would like to introduce senior trackman Bill "Buf" Keener. He resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Harr at 710 Northridge Road.

The slender 6' 2" veteran high jumper should be a strong contender for league honors this year. Already in practice, Bill has cleared 5'8" and hopes to reach his goal of 6' 2", the school record, by the end of the season.

Besides track, Bill was a starting offensive end on the football team. He is also captain of Stooze Club.

Keener feels that balance and depth make a good track team. "We have one of the best teams we have had in a few years. We should take the league if injuries do not hinder us."

The first meet, a development meet, was held today at Ohio State University.

South Carolina Edges Clemson, 34-33

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
If you can't run with them, stall. That's how the underdog sometimes tries to win important college basketball games.

The Clemson Tigers used the slow down tactics against nationally third-ranked South Carolina Thursday and just missed scoring what would have been the most stunning upset in the history of the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament.

South Carolina pulled out a 34-33 victory on three free throws in the last 47 seconds to break a 31-31 tie.

"I was convinced this was the only way to give our boys a chance to win," said Bobby Roberts after his last game as Clemson coach. "They had clobbered us twice in the regular season."

"They were clever with the ball," said Frank McGuire, South Carolina coach. "But our boys have a lot of guts. They will not crack."

Ronnie Yates of Clemson was the game's high scorer with 12 points while Tom Owens paced the winning Gamecocks with nine. The score was tied at the half 12-12.

South Carolina now plays Wake Forest in the ACC semifinals tonight at Charlotte with Virginia pitted against N.C. State in the other semi.

Wake Forest advanced by beating Duke 81-73, N.C. State by tripping Maryland 67-57 and Virginia by surprising North Carolina 95-83. Charlie Scott almost pulled the game out for the Tar Heels by scoring 41 points.

St. Bonaventure, No. 4 in The Associated Press poll, won its 10th straight by routing Fairfield at New Haven 86-59 and ninth-ranked Marquette humbled Tulane 79-67 at New Orleans.

Jeff Halliburton's second-half shooting, including a vital basket that broke a 78-78 tie, brought 14th-ranked Drake from behind for an 85-80 road triumph over St. Louis.

All-American Calvin Murphy was held to 14 points, but his Niagara teammates managed to beat Canisius at Buffalo 60-57.

Santa Clara took a one-game lead over U. of Pacific in the WCAC Conference by whacking St. Mary's 113-73 as San Francisco topped UOP 59-58. Santa Clara now can win the WCAC and an NCAA berth by beating UOP Saturday.

North Texas beat Wichita State 84-79, Rhode Island shaded Brown 68-66, Rutgers downed NYU 70-66, Manhattan trounced Fordham 73-54, Colorado thumped Iowa State 107-79 and Denver defeated Portland 85-75 in other games.

The NCAA college division tourney started with UC, Riverside, beating Boise State 83-71 and Puget Sound overcoming Sacramento State 67-62 in the Far West Regional at Tacoma.

The other 28 teams in the NCAA college division tourney play their first round games tonight with these regional pairings:

New England at Worcester, Mass.—St. Anselms vs. American International and Assumption vs. Springfield.

South Atlantic at Statesboro, Ga.—Stetson vs. Mt. St. Mary's and Georgia Southern vs. Old Dominion.

South at Owensboro, Ky.—Transylvania vs. Kentucky Wesleyan and Bellarmine vs. Tennessee State.

East at Buffalo, N.Y.—Buffalo State vs. Stony Brook and Hartwick vs. Montclair State.

Midwest at Reading, Pa.—Ashland vs. Cheyney State and Youngstown vs. Philadelphia Textile.

Great Lakes at Mt. Pleasant, Mich.—Central Michigan vs. Wayne, Mich. and St. Joseph's, Ind. vs. Capital.

Midwest at Brookings, S.D.—Cornell, Iowa, vs. Central Missouri and South Dakota State vs. Southwest Missouri.

Willie's Dillies

With basketball season out of the way as far as the county schools are concerned we'll turn our attention to the spring sports. We intend to check the schools and will try to keep the fans up to date on the status of the baseball, track and golf squads.

I stand corrected — Basketball season is not over — The Circleville faculty five is still hitting the hardwood with a 2-1 record on the season. They have conquered the Logan Elm teachers and the Teays Valley tutors on the home court and lost an overtime thriller to the Viking group at Teays Valley.

Impressed with their own power and strength, the Tigers, with age, are taking on the senior members of the Ohio State football squad at 7:30 Thursday on the local court. Friday morning should be a busy time at liniment counter and whirlpool bath.

With spring sports waiting in the wings to make their entrance on stage, we would like to digress for a moment and bring football into the picture.

Applications are being distributed for season tickets to the Circleville High School grid games. Anyone not receiving an application can obtain one by contacting Walter Owens at Circleville High School.

We would like to thank all the cagers in the county for the thrills and excitement they provided during the cage season. Many an enjoyable evening was spent in the local gyms with the adrenalin flowing full speed. We wish we could thank each one personally but must be content with a well done and our best to all of you.

Our little gem of information — The All-Time NBA team selected by sportswriters is Bill Russell, George Mikan, Bob Cousy, Elgin Baylor and Wilt Chamberlain.

Our "fearless" forecast — Zane Trace to take another step toward the state crown with a win over Minford . . . Jacksonville to whip Western Kentucky in the opening round of the NCAA . . . Ohio University to stun the Irish with an upset win over Notre Dame.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Citrus Open Still Delayed By Heavy Rain

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Officials tried again today to get in the first round of the rain-plagued Florida Citrus Invitational Golf Tournament.

A heavy rain storm, accompanied by lightning, washed out the first round play Thursday.

The hastily revised schedule now calls for 18 holes of play today and Saturday with a 36-hole wind-up Sunday.

"We decided to go with a 36-hole round Sunday rather than hold over until Monday primarily for television," tournament director Paul Warren said.

National television coverage of the $150,000 event is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday by the Hughes Sports Network.

About half the field of 100, one of the strongest fields of the year, had started play in a heavy rain before lightning began to play over the course and play had to be abandoned.

All scores were wiped out and players must start again from the first tee on the 6,849 yard, par 72 Rio Pinar Country Club course.

Jack Nicklaus, making his first start in four weeks, was the favorite for the $30,000 top prize.

The field also included Arnold Palmer, Frank Beard, Dave Hill, Lee Trevino and Dan Sikes, along with four major titleholders, George Archer, Ray Floyd, Orville Moody and Tony Jacklin, and 1970 tournament winners Pete Brown, Ron Cerullo, Mike Hill, Dale Douglass and Bert Yancey.

Braves Expect Big Things From Aaron And Garr

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Hammerin' Hank Aaron still has it all, except the legs of a 24-year-old — and that's where Ralph Garr becomes an important part of the pennant picture for the Atlanta Braves.

Ralph Garr has 24-year-old legs.

Lightning-fast with 63 stolen bases and a .329 batting average to go with them at Richmond in the International League last year, Garr is on the threshold of breaking into the Braves' line-up and becoming Aaron's fountain of youth.

For Aaron, 36, now needs a day of rest here and there to be able to go at full speed and Garr could step in and provide that. At the same time, he is valuable insurance against injury to any of the other Braves' outfielders.

"He has speed and color," Manager Lum Harris said in lavishing praise on the Grambling College graduate. "He can run like heck and he gives it that full swing, his body spinning all around, which seems to create a lot of excitement."

Garr's development not only could be the answer to giving Aaron a needed day off, but was the major reason the Braves were able to bolster their pitching — the one department they felt needed strengthening after they won the National League West title last year only to lose to the New York Mets in the playoffs.

The Braves did that by trading outfielder Felipe Alou to Oakland for Jim Nash, a 25-year-old right-hander who gives Harris seven possibilities for the five spots in the starting rotation.

Two spots are reserved for Phil Niekro, the 23-game-winning knuckleballer, and Ron Reed, Nash, Pat Jarvis, George Stone, Milt Pappas and Larry Jaster (acquired from Montreal with battle for the others. The two losers will go to the bullpen with 47-year-old Hoyt Wilhelm and Cecil Upshaw.

"Our long relief was bad last year," Harris admitted frankly. "And I think we can improve that this season with the staff we have now. I think most people underrate our pitching, but I'm satisfied. We had four in double figures."

The four Harris referred to were Niekro, with 23 victories; Reed, with 18, and Stone and Jarvis with 13.

"I think we'll get the long relief we need this season," Harris continued. "And I think we'll have the strongest pitching staff since I've been here."

Pitching is the only major question mark the Braves have. They are set elsewhere, particularly in the outfield, where Aaron (.300, 44 homers, 97 RBI), Tony Gonzalez (.294, 10, 50) and Rico Carty (.342, 16, 58) form a formidable trio.

Orlando Cepeda (.257, 22, 88) adds power at first base, with Felix Millan at second, Clete Boyer at third, Sonny Jackson at shortstop and Bob Didier and Bob Tillman handling the catching.

Unless injuries create a problem, it is doubtful that anyone will crack that line-up with the exception of Garr, unless Hal King, up from Louisville, where he hit .322, is ready to challenge for a catching berth.

The Braves, then, may be stronger than last year, with added pitching depth and the promise of Garr. But Harris fully realizes the defending Western champions are on the spot in a division in which four other clubs — San Francisco, Cincinnati, Los Angeles and Houston — all finished within halting distance of Atlanta last year.

"After you win it once," Harris said, "teams lay for you a little more. I think my team realizes it. They're pretty confident. But they haven't come to spring training to rest on what they did last year."

Pascual, but not the big one the Reds have in mind.

Chief Bender, in charge of salary negotiations for Cincinnati, said the Reds have made an offer and will not raise it. Bender added that Pascual told the club he would not play if he did not receive what he was asking.

So, in the daily bulletin on their unsigned players, the Reds said that Pascual, a 16-year veteran, was considering retirement.

That came as a major shock to Pascual, who claims the thought never crossed his mind. "I feel great," he said, "why would I retire?"

Obviously, what we have here is a failure to communicate. But Pascual wants to resolve that shortcoming in a hurry. He wants to talk to Commissioner Bowie Kuhn about the problem.

"I feel I can still pitch and win a lot of games," said Pascual. "I told them I'd take a cut but not the maximum cut. And then Chief Bender told me they were going to put me on waivers and no other team would claim me."

Pascual said he was waiting for the waivers when he read about his "retirement."

Another unsigned Cincinnati pitcher, Jim Maloney, was the center of a flurry of trade rumors Thursday.

First there was a report that the Reds had offered him to Chicago in a deal for outfielder Bill ly Williams which had been turned down by the Cubs. Then another rumor had him going to the Cubs along with second baseman Tommy Helms, who is also unsigned, for pitcher Ferguson Jenkins and either Glenn Beckert or Paul Popovich, both infielders.

Bob Howsam, general manager of the Reds, squelched the rumors, saying simply, "We do not plan to trade either Maloney or Helms at this time."

Maloney remained in his Cincinnati home, saying "I'm going to stay here until they come up to what I want." That would be the same $60,000 he made last year. Helms, asking a $6,000 raise to $46,000, said he was returning to his Charlotte, N.C. home.

Elsewhere, name holdouts including Richie Allen, Reggie Jackson and Frank Howard also stood their ground. But Baltimore ended its signing problems by enrolling Boog Powell and Dave McNally for $65,000 each.

In the only exhibition game played, the Washington Senators rallied for a 7-6 victory over the New York Yankees on a two-run homer in the last of the ninth by rookie Jeff Burroughs, an $85,000 bonus baby. John Roseboro also tagged a two-run shot for the Senators.

Haywood Leads Denver Rockets Over Pittsburgh

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spencer Haywood has broken another first-year American Basketball Association record in keeping the Denver Rockets atop the Western Division standings.

The rookie dropout from the University of Detroit poured in 36 points and grabbed 15 rebounds in leading the Rockets to a 114-97 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pipers Thursday night.

Haywood, who already holds the season mark for total points by a rookie, boosted his rebound total to 1,261, eclipsing the 1,256 set by Mel Daniels in 1968 while with Minnesota.

In the only other ABA action, the Indiana Pacers continued their hot pace in the Eastern Division by tripping the Washington Caps 123-110.

Fishing Contest At Hargus Lake

Thompson's Lakeside Supply store will sponsor a fishing contest at Hargus Lake again this year.

The contest will run from March 1 to December 1 and prizes will be awarded for the largest muskie, large mouth bass, crappie, bluegill and catfish.

Fish must be caught at the lake and measured at the store.

But then they can't afford to — particularly the pitchers. If they repeat last year's performance, the Braves won't.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chuck Watt of Steubenville and Hank Lazasz of Tiltonsville Warren Consolidated are the Eastern District high school basketball coaches of the year.

An area panel of sports writers and broadcasters selected Watt and Lazasz, who coached their teams to unbeaten regular season records, for The Associated Press.

The panel also tapped Gary Repella of Steubenville, a 6-foot-3 senior who averaged 18 points, and 5-8 Indian Valley North senior Gene Ford, sporting a 29.6 average, as the players of the year.

Repella represents Class AA and Ford Class A.

The speedy Repella was the main spoke for Steubenville's cagers after he quarterbacked the football team to an outstanding season last fall.

Ford is another versatile athlete. He can pole vault 12 feet and is also a baseball star.

Joining Repella on the Eastern District Class AA first team were 6-3 John Bobalik of Wellsville, 6-3 Monte Sherrell of Claymont, 6-4 Dan Evans of New Philadelphia, 6-5 Charles Sidwell of Tri-Valley and 5-8 Tom Selock of Meadowbrook.

Ford's mates on the Class A first team were 6-1 Eric Heft of Skyvue, 6-2 Dan Brown of Jewett, 6-foot Larry Harding of Garaway and Jim Prati of Tiltonsville Warren Consolidated.

Dick Brooks Contender For 500 Win

ROCKINGHAM, N. C. (AP) — Dick Brooks left a tidy job in California just over a year ago and headed South with one big objective in life: Win a stock car racing championship.

After one season on NASCAR's elite Grand National circuit, the 27-year-old driver feels he is on the verge of reaching his goal.

"All I need now is a little luck," Brooks said Thursday after qualifying his winged Plymouth in fifth starting position for Sunday's $90,000 Carolina 500 at North Carolina Motor Speedway. "This is the best starting position I've had in a big race."

Brooks, who won NASCAR's first season last year, was almost four miles per hour off Bobby Allison's pole-winning speed in Thursday's first round of time trials over the tricky one-mile oval.

But his 135.572 m.p.h. was the best of the new 1970 Plymouth "Superbird" cars, including those assigned to alltime highest NASCAR winner Richard Petty and Daytona 500 champion Pete Hamilton. Allison won the top front row spot in a Dodge at 139.048 m.p.h., a track record.

With 20 cars now holding berths in the starting field of 40 race officials planned to add 10 more via time trials today and the remainder from a 25-lap consolation race Saturday.

Forty-five cars were on hand. Dodge cars copped the first four starting positions, with Charlie Glotzbach of Georgetown, Ind., winning the other front row assignment at 137.932 m.p.h. Bobby Isaac and Buddy Baker make up the second row.

South Carolina Edges Clemson, 34-33

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
If you can't run with them, stall. That's how the underdog sometimes tries to win important college basketball games.

The Clemson Tigers used the slow down tactics against nationally third-ranked South Carolina Thursday and just missed scoring what would have been the most stunning upset in the history of the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tourney.

South Carolina pulled out a 34-33 victory on three free throws in the last 47 seconds to break a 31-31 tie.

"I was convinced this was the only way to give our boys a chance to win," said Bobby Roberts after his last game as Clemson coach. "They had clobbered us twice in the regular season."

"They were clever with the ball," said Frank McGuire, South Carolina coach. "But our boys have a lot of guts. They will not crack."

Ronnie Yates of Clemson was the game's high scorer with 12 points while Tom Owens paced the winning Gamecocks with nine. The score was tied at the half 12-12.

South Carolina now plays Wake Forest in the ACC semifinals tonight at Charlotte with Virginia pitted against N.C. State in the other semi.
Wake Forest advanced by beating Duke 81-73, N.C. State by tripping Maryland 67-57 and Virginia by surprising North Carolina 95-93. Charlie Scott almost pulled the game out for the Tar Heels by scoring 41 points.

St. Bonaventure, No. 4 in The Associated Press poll, won its 10th straight by routing Fairfield at New Haven 86-59 and ninth-ranked Marquette humbled Tulane 79-67 at New Orleans.

Jeff Halliburton's second-half shooting, including a vital basket that broke a 78-78 tie, brought 14th-ranked Drake from behind for an 85-80 road triumph over St. Louis.

All-American Calvin Murphy was held to 14 points, but his Niagara teammates managed to beat Canisius at Buffalo 60-57.
Santa Clara took a one-game lead over U. of Pacific in the WCAC Conference by whacking St. Mary's 113-73 as San Francisco topped UOP 59-58. Santa Clara now can win the WCAC and an NCAA berth by beating UOP Saturday.

North Texas beat Wichita State 84-79, Rhode Island shaded Brown 68-66, Rutgers downed NYU 70-66, Manhattan trounced Fordham 73-54, Colorado thumped Iowa State 107-79 and Denver defeated Portland 85-75 in other games.

The NCAA college division tourney started with UC, Riverside, beating Boise State 83-71 and Puget Sound overcoming Sacramento State 67-62 in the Far West Regional at Tacoma.

The other 28 teams in the NCAA college division tourney play their first round games tonight with these regional pairings:

New England at Worcester, Mass.—St. Anselms vs. American International and Assumption vs. Springfield.

South Atlantic at Statesboro, Ga.—Stetson vs. Mt. St. Mary's and Georgia Southern vs. Old Dominion.

South at Owensboro, Ky.—Transylvania vs. Kentucky Wesleyan and Bellarmine vs. Tennessee State.

East at Buffalo, N.Y.—Buffalo State vs. Stony Brook and Hartwick vs. Montclair State.

Midwest at Reading, Pa.—Ashland vs. Cheyney State and Youngstown vs. Philadelphia Textile.

Great Lakes at Mt. Pleasant, Mich.—Central Michigan vs. Wayne, Mich. and St. Joseph's, Ind. vs. Capital.

Midwest at Brookings, S.D.—Cornell, Iowa, vs. Central Missouri and South Dakota State vs. Southwest Missouri.

With basketball season out of the way as far as the county schools are concerned we'll turn our attention to the spring sports. We intend to check the schools and will try to keep the fans up to date on the status of the baseball, track and golf squads.

I stand corrected — Basketball season is not over — The Circleville faculty five is still hitting the hardwood with a 2-1 record on the season. They have conquered the Logan Elm teachers and the Teays Valley tutors on the home court and lost an overtime thriller to the Viking group at Teays Valley.

Impressed with their own power and strength, the Tigers, with age, are taking on the senior members of the Ohio State football squad at 7:30 Thursday on the local court. Friday morning should be a busy time at liniment counter and whirlpool bath.

With spring sports waiting in the wings to make their entrance on stage, we would like to digress for a moment and bring football into the picture.

Applications are being distributed for season tickets to the Circleville High School grid games. Anyone not receiving an application can obtain one by contacting Walter Owens at Circleville High School.

We would like to thank all the cagers in the county for the thrills and excitement they provided during the cage season. Many an enjoyable evening was spent in the local gyms with the adrenalin flowing full speed. We wish we could thank each one personally but must be content with a well done and our best to all of you.

Our little gem of information — The All-Time NBA team selected by sportswriters is Bill Russell, George Mikan, Bob Cousy, Elgin Baylor and Wilt Chamberlain.

Our "fearless" forecast — Zane Trace to take another step toward the state crown with a win over Minford . . . Jacksonville to whip Western Kentucky in the opening round of the NCAA . . . Ohio University to stun the Irish with an upset win over Notre Dame.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Communications Gap Hits Cincy Reds Training Base

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The communications gap—a built-in problem of our modern age—has surfaced in Tampa, Fla., training base of the Cincinnati Reds.

The Reds say curve-baller Camilo Pascual is ready to retire and Pascual says it's the Reds who are throwing the curve ball this time.

The veteran Cuban right-hander is resitting a maximum 25-per cent slice in his $46,000 salary. He'll take a cut, says

Pascual, but not the big one the Reds have in mind.

Chief Bender, in charge of salary negotiations for Cincinnati, said the Reds have made an offer and will not raise it. Bender added that Pascual told the club he would not play if he did not receive what he was asking.

So, in the daily bulletin on their unsigned players, the Reds said that Pascual, a 16-year veteran, was considering retirement.

That came as a major shock to Pascual, who claims the thought never crossed his mind. "I feel great," he said, "why would I retire?"

Obviously, what we have here is a failure to communicate. But Pascual wants to resolve that shortcoming in a hurry. He wants to talk to Commissioner Bowie Kuhn about the problem.

"I feel I can still pitch and win a lot of games," said Pascual. "I told them I'd take a cut but not the maximum cut. And then Chief Bender told me they were going to put me on waivers and no other team would claim me."

Pascual said he was waiting for the waivers when he read about his "retirement."

Another unsigned Cincinnati pitcher, Jim Maloney, was the center of a flurry of trade rumors Thursday.

First there was a report that the Reds had offered him to Chicago in a deal for outfielder Bill

Williams which had been turned down by the Cubs. Then another rumor had him going to the Cubs along with second baseman Tommy Helms, who is also unsigned, for pitcher Ferguson Jenkins and either Glenn Beckert or Paul Popovich, both infielders.

Bob Howsam, general manager of the Reds, squelched the rumors, saying simply, "we do not plan to trade either Maloney or Helms at this time."

Maloney remained in his Cincinnati home, saying "I'm going to stay here until they come up to what I want." That would be the same $60,000 he made last year. Helms, asking a $6,000 raise to $46,000, said he was returning to his Charlotte, N.C. home.

Elsewhere, name holdouts including Richie Allen, Reggie Jackson and Frank Howard also stood their ground. But Baltimore ended its signing problems by enrolling Boog Powell and Dave McNally for $85,000 each.

In the only exhibition game played, the Washington Senators rallied for a 7-6 victory over the New York Yankees on a two-run homer in the last of the ninth by rookie Jeff Burroughs, an $85,000 bonus baby. John Roseboro also tagged a two-run shot for the Senators.

Braves Expect Big Things From Aaron And Garr

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Hammerin' Hank Aaron still has it all, except the legs of a 24-year-old—and that's where Ralph Garr becomes an important part of the pennant picture for the Atlanta Braves.

Ralph Garr has 24-year-old legs.

Lightning-fast with 63 stolen bases and a .329 batting average to go with them at Richmond in the International League last year, Garr is on the threshold of breaking into the Braves' lineup and becoming Aaron's fountain of youth.

For Aaron, 36, now needs a day of rest here and there to be able to go at full speed and Garr could step in and provide that. At the same time, he is valuable insurance against injury to any of the other Braves' outfielders.

"He has speed and color," Manager Lum Harris said in lavishing praise on the Grambling College graduate. "He can run like heck and he gives it that full swing, his body spinning all around, which seems to create a lot of excitement."

Garr's development not only could be the answer to giving Aaron a needed day off, but was the major reason the Braves were able to bolster their pitching—the one department they felt needed strengthening after they won the National League West title last year only to lose to the New York Mets in the playoffs.

The Braves did that by trading outfielder Felipe Alou to Oakland for Jim Nash, a 25-year-old right-hander who gives Harris seven possibilities for the five spots in the starting rotation.

Two spots are reserved for Phil Niekro, the 23-game-winning knuckleballer, and Ron Reed, Nash, Pat Jarvis, George Stone, Milt Pappas and Larry Jaster (acquired from Montreal) with battle for the others. The two losers will go to the bullpen with 47-year-old Hoyt Wilhelm and Cecil Upshaw.

"Our long relief was bad last year," Harris admitted frankly. "And I think we can improve that this season with the staff we have now. I think most people underate our pitching, but I'm satisfied. We had four in double figures."

The four Harris referred to were Niekro, with 23 victories; Reed, with 18, and Stone and Jarvis with 13.

"I think we'll get the long relief we need this season," Harris continued. "And I think we'll have the strongest pitching staff since I've been here."

Pitching is the only major question mark the Braves have. They are set elsewhere, particularly in the outfield, where Aaron (.300, 44 homers, 97 RBI), Tony Gonzalez (.294, 10, 50) and Rico Carty (.342, 16, 58) form a formidable trio.

Orlando Cepeda (.257, 22, 88) adds power at first base, with Felix Millan at second, Cleve Boyer at third, Sonny Jackson at shortstop and Bob Didier and Bob Tillman handling the catching.

Unless injuries create a problem, it is doubtful that anyone will crack that line-up with the exception of Garr, unless Hal King, up from Louisville, where he hit .322, is ready to challenge for a catching berth.

The Braves, then, may be stronger than last year, with added pitching depth and the promise of Garr. But Harris fully realizes the defending Western champions are on the spot in a division in which four other clubs—San Francisco, Cincinnati, Los Angeles and Houston—all finished within hailing distance of Atlanta last year.

"After you win it once," Harris said, "teams lay for you a little more. I think my team realizes it. They're pretty confident. But they haven't come to spring training to rest on what they did last year."

Haywood Leads Denver Rockets Over Pittsburgh

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Spencer Haywood has broken another first-year American Basketball Association record in keeping the Denver Rockets atop the Western Division standings.

The rookie dropout from the University of Detroit poured in 36 points and grabbed 15 rebounds in leading the Rockets to a 114-97 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pipers Thursday night.

Haywood, who already holds the season mark for total points by a rookie, boosted his rebound total to 1,261, eclipsing the 1,256 set by Mel Daniels in 1968 while with Minnesota.

In the only other ABA action, the Indiana Pacers continued their hot pace in the Eastern Division by tripping the Washington Caps 123-110.

Fishing Contest At Hargus Lake

Thompson's Lakeside Supply store will sponsor a fishing contest at Hargus Lake again this year.

The contest will run from March 1 to December 1 and prizes will be awarded for the largest muskie, large mouth bass, crappie, bluegill and catfish.

Fish must be caught at the lake and measured at the store.

But then they can't afford to—particularly the pitchers. If they repeat last year's performance, the Braves won't.

Eastern Ohio Cage Stars Named

By GEORGE STRODE
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chuck Watt of Steubenville and Hank Lazasz of Tiltonsville Warren Consolidated are the Eastern District high school basketball coaches of the year.

An area panel of sports writers and broadcasters selected Watt and Lazasz, who coached their teams to unbeaten regular season records, for The Associated Press.

The panel also tapped Gary Repella of Steubenville, a 6-foot-3 senior who averaged 18 points, and 5-8 Indian Valley North senior Gene Ford, sporting a 29.6 average, as the players of the year.

Repella represents Class AA and Ford Class A.

The speedy Repella was the main spoke for Steubenville's cagers after he quarterbacked the football team to an outstanding season last fall.

Ford is another versatile athlete. He can pole vault 12 feet and is also a baseball star.

Joining Repella on the Eastern District Class AA first team were 6-3 John Bobalik of Wellsville, 6-3 Monte Sherrill of Claymont, 6-4 Dan Evans of New Philadelphia, 6-5 Charles Sidwell of Tri-Valley and 5-8 Tom Selock of Meadowbrook.

Citrus Open Still Delayed By Heavy Rain

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Officials tried again today to get in the first round of the rain-plagued Florida Citrus Invitational Golf Tournament.

A heavy rain storm, accompanied by lightning, washed out the first round play Thursday.

The hastily revised schedule now calls for 18 holes of play today and Saturday with a 36-hole wind-up Sunday.

"We decided to go with a 36-hole round Sunday rather than hold over until Monday primarily for television," tournament director Paul Warren said.

National television coverage of the $150,000 event is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday by the Hughes Sports Network.

About half the field of 100, one of the strongest fields of the year, had started play in a heavy rain before lightning began to play over the course and play had to be abandoned.

All scores were wiped out and players must start again from the first tee on the 6,849 yard, par 72 Rio Pinar Country Club Course.

Jack Nicklaus, making his first start in four weeks, was the favorite for the $30,000 top prize.

The field also included Arnold Palmer, Frank Beard, Dave Hill, Lee Trevino and Dan Sikes, along with four major titleholders, George Archer, Ray Floyd, Orville Moody and Tony Jacklin, and 1970 tournament winners Pete Brown, Ron Cerudo, Mike Hill, Dale Douglass and Bert Yancey.

Manson And Susan Atkins Have Jail-Cell Reunion

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The girl authorities say supplied the basis of charges against Charles Manson in the killing of actress Sharon Tate and six others have had an apparently happy reunion with the hippie-type cult leader in jail.

Susan Denise Atkins, 21, accused in the slayings along with Manson and four other members of his nomadic "family," seemed exuberant after their meeting Thursday.

Asked by newsmen whether he had told her to change the story she related to the grand jury which indicted them, she replied: "Charley doesn't give orders. Charley doesn't command."

Swiss Bank . .

know the Mafia people who come to Switzerland to open a bank account," observer Philippe de Weck, director general of the Union Bank of Switzerland, the country's largest.

"Americans constantly mix tax matters with aspects of the criminal code.

"Because they cannot get hold of their gangsters on ordinary criminal charges they try it via a fiscal investigation."

Felix W. Schulthess, chairman of the Swiss Credit Bank, says he agrees with the view of an American expert that U.S. funds flowing into Switzerland are mainly those of law-abiding people looking for a "maximum of security."

Swiss banks have been a depository for foreign capital for decades. An early peak came in the 1930s when the Nazis started their pogroms and Jews sent money abroad to prepare for emigration.

In that period, Swiss bank secrecy, proclaimed as a "demonstration of the freedom and privacy of the individual," was codified in the Federal Banking Act. It was largely aimed against sleuths sent from Germany and Italy to track assets of would-be refugees.

Swiss banks also introduced "numbered accounts" to provide greater discretion about clients. The owners of numbered accounts are known only to a few executives of a bank branch but they lack complete anonymity. Legal protection is the same as for an ordinary account.

In general, says banker Schweizer, Swiss bank accounts, numbered or not, are "not more secret than an account in any other bank, be it in the United States or in any other foreign country—professional bank secrecy is just a matter of course in most civilized countries."

A dissenting opinion is voiced by Prof. Peter Noll, a criminal law expert at Zurich University. He says there is "no doubt" that gangsters have bank accounts in Switzerland along with oil sheiks, exiled kings, deposed dictators, South American revolutionaries and former Nazi big wigs.

He has suggested a law that would oblige a bank to report to a "supervisory authority" if it suspects funds deposited with it were acquired through a criminal offense.

SCS District To Participate In Contest

Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District will compete in the 24th annual Goodyear Soil Conservation Awards Program to select the nation's top 53 conservation districts, according to David H. Bolender, Route 4, district chairman.

The district's activities and accomplishments will be measured against the performances of other districts in the state in determining the first and second place winners in the annual competition sponsored by The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. An independent judging committee of agricultural leaders will select the state winners for the calendar year 1970.

Grand award for the first place district will be expense-paid, vacation-study trips to Arizona for the outstanding landowner-cooperator and one member of the district's governing board. They will be guests, along with representatives of the winning districts in other states, at the 10,000-acre Goodyear Farms and the Wigwam, resort hotel, in Litchfield Park, Ariz., in December, 1971.

Pickaway district has participated in the awards program 10 times.

District supervisors are David Bolender, Circleville, Ohio; Frank Graves, Kingston, Ohio; Jay Hay, Ashville, Ohio; George Hamman III, Williamsport, Ohio; Caney Vance, Derby, Ohio.

Bolender said the district's outstanding cooperator for 1970 will be selected from the more than 663 land owners enrolled in the district program.

Nationally, more than 2,000,000 individuals and companies have signed cooperative agreements with the 3,000 local soil and water conservation districts.

Area Students To Tour Europe As Ambassadors

Seven Pickaway County high school students have been accepted as members of a local delegation of People-to-People High School Student Ambassadors to Europe this summer. They will be in a group being formed by delegation leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bush, Williamsport.

Following a three day briefing by U.S. State Department officials in Washington D. C., the Ambassadors will fly to Europe on an international goodwill tour that will take them to 11 countries in 45 days.

To qualify, interested high school students were recommended by a school official as being capable of properly representing and speaking for our country abroad, thus becoming "Ambassadors." Selection was made through a written application, health examination certificate and personal screening interviews.

Four of the student delegates attend Circleville High School. Krista Kay Clifton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clifton, 1150 North Court St., is a senior. She has been designated an honor graduate and is a member of the High School English Merit Society. She is also active in the Girls Athletic Assn. and bowls with an intramural bowling team. Last year she was second attendant to Miss Pumpkin Show and a runner-up for Miss Dance Party on a Columbus television show.

James L. Salyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Salyer, 433 Edgewood Drive, is a talented musician, playing the piano, organ, saxophone and drums. A sophomore, he has been a member of a band for five years and the stage band for two years. In district music competitions he has won superior ratings for saxophone in the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth grades. James is also active in Methodist Youth Fellowship and has been secretary and news reporter for a 4-H Aviation Club. He also belongs to the Key Club at CHS.

Melody Steely, daughter of Mrs. Jean Tarbill, 106 Collins Court, is an honor student and sophomore at Circleville High School. She is a member of the Girls Athletic Assn., band, and is a Red Cross Volunteer. She has received a first place in a French scholarship test.

Brian Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller, Route 3, is a sophomore at Circleville High School. He is active in the audio-visual department and is a member of the Key Club.

Another Circleville Student Ambassador, Deena Darlene Halstenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Halstenberg, 1570 North Court Street, is a senior at Logan Elm High School, where she is the editor of the school newspaper. She is a member of the national journalism society, Quill and Scroll and Drama Club. She was vice president of her class in her junior year.

Lois Dill, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Dill, of Route 1, Ashville, is a senior at Teays Valley High School. An accomplished vocalist, she is very interested in music, but her other interests range from the Grange and school annual staff, to the Drama Club, Latin Club and the Future Teachers of America. She is on the office staff, library staff, and active in church youth work.

Steve Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, 255 East St., Ashville, is also a student at Teays Valley High School, where he is a freshman. Although his free time activities run mostly to sports, football, basketball, baseball and track, he is proficient on the violin and music is his chief extracurricular interest. He looks forward to hearing European folk music and the Vienna Symphony Orchestra.

Now in its eighth year, People to People was organized in 1956 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower who hoped it would lead to lasting two-way relationships from which international friendships and understandings could grow.

The High School Student Ambassador Program is designed to help students of our country exchange ideas with students and adults of other countries and provide the broadening and educational experiences of travel in the tradition of People to People.

Of the area delegation leaders, Mrs. Bush is a teacher in Derby. She is active in church, youth and lodge groups. Mr. Bush, Williamsport postmaster, is also active in lodge, veteran's groups and is a member of Westfall Board of Education.

Interested students may contact them by phone, 986-3772, or by mail to Box 44, Williamsport.

Manson And Susan Atkins Have Jail-Cell Reunion

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The girl authorities say supplied the basis of charges against Charles Manson in the killing of actress Sharon Tate and six others have had an apparently happy reunion with the hippie-type cult leader in jail.

Susan Denise Atkins, 21, accused in the slayings along with Manson and four other members of his nomadic "family," seemed exuberant after their meeting Thursday.

Asked by newsmen whether he had told her to change the story she related to the grand jury which indicted them, she replied:

"Charley doesn't give orders, Charley doesn't command."

Swiss Bank . .

know the Mafia people who come to Switzerland to open a bank account," observer Philippe de Weck, director general of the Union Bank of Switzerland, the country's largest.

"Americans constantly mix tax matters with aspects of the criminal code.

"Because they cannot get hold of their gangsters on ordinary criminal charges they try it via a fiscal investigation."

Felix W. Schulthess, chairman of the Swiss Credit Bank, says he agrees with the view of an American expert that U.S. funds flowing into Switzerland are mainly those of law-abiding people looking for a "maximum of security."

Swiss banks have been a depository for foreign capital for decades. An early peak came in the 1930s when the Nazis started their pogroms and Jews sent money abroad to prepare for emigration.

In that period, Swiss bank secrecy, proclaimed as a "demonstration of the freedom and privacy of the individual," was codified in the Federal Banking Act. It was largely aimed against sleuths sent from Germany and Italy to track assets of would-be refugees.

Swiss banks also introduced "numbered accounts" to provide greater discretion about clients. The owners of numbered accounts are known only to a few executives of a bank branch but they lack complete anonymity. Legal protection is the same as for an ordinary account.

In general, says banker Schweizer, Swiss bank accounts, numbered or not, are "not more secret than an account in any other bank, be it in the United States or in any other foreign country—professional bank secrecy is just a matter of course in most civilized countries."

A dissenting opinion is voiced by Prof. Peter Noll, a criminal law expert at Zurich University. He says there is "no doubt" that gangsters have bank accounts in Switzerland along with oil sheiks, exiled kings, deposed dictators, South American revolutionaries and former Nazi big wigs.

He has suggested a law that would oblige a bank to report to a "supervisory authority" if it suspects funds deposited with it were acquired through a criminal offense.

Charges Filed Against Chief Of Darbydale

A state statute of loosing stray dogs will bring the Darbydale chief of police before the Pickaway County Municipal Court March 26 in a defendants role.

Darby Township trustees, James Musselman, Maxwell Graham and Darrell Furness, brought the charges against Chief Thomas O. Wilson. The trustees claim Wilson brought two stray dogs into Pickaway County on Feb. 20 and turned them loose on the London-Circleville Northern Road.

The trustees first learned of the incident when witnesses reported seeing the animals being released from the marked Darbydale police car.

Wilson's attorney entered pleas of innocence to the charges on Feb. 27.

SCS District To Participate In Contest

Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District will compete in the 24th annual Goodyear Soil Conservation Awards Program to select the nation's top 53 conservation districts, according to David H. Bolender, Route 4, district chairman.

The district's activities and accomplishments will be measured against the performances of other districts in the state in determining the first and second place winners in the annual competition sponsored by The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. An independent judging committee of agricultural leaders will select the state winners for the calendar year 1970.

Grand award for the first place district will be expense-paid, vacation-study trips to Arizona for the outstanding landowner-cooperator and one member of the district's governing board. They will be guests, along with representatives of the winning districts in other states, at the 10,000-acre Goodyear Farms and the Wigwam, resort hotel, in Litchfield Park, Ariz., in December, 1971.

Pickaway district has participated in the awards program 10 times.

District supervisors are David Bolender, Circleville, Ohio; Frank Graves, Kingston, Ohio; Jay Hay, Ashville, Ohio; George Hamman III, Williamsport, Ohio; Caney Vance, Derby, Ohio.

Bolender said the district's outstanding cooperator for 1970 will be selected from the more than 663 land owners enrolled in the district program. Nationally, more than 2,000,000 individuals and companies have signed cooperative agreements with the 3,000 local soil and water conservation districts.
